Empty PW Camps Stress Rhee's Truce Stand

A vast empty enclosure faces this UN soldier as he checks an escape gap in one of four PW camps run by South Koreans at Pusan, from which some 25,000 anti-Red prisoners were released on orders of South Korean President Syngman Rhee. The move was in protest against proposed truce terms which would leave Korea divided. Allied officials figure it will prove impossible to round up the escapees.

St. Laurent Challenges Drew's Tax Slash Plan

Tory Leader's Pledge Termed 'Impossible'

GUELPH, Ont. (BUP)—Prime Minister Louis St. Laurent told 4,000 persons in Memorial Gardens Tuesday night that George Drew's pledge to slash taxes by $500,000,000 was "childish and impossible."

He demanded that the Progressive Conservative leader tell the people how his party could carry out the promise if elected, but said he did not think Drew could.

"To be honest with you, I do not expect them to give you any such facts," he said.

"I have sat opposite Mr. Drew in the House of Commons for four years and my experience is that in debate and in public discussions he seems to believe that if something is asserted often enough and loudly enough it becomes a fact."

The prime minister said Drew had not indicated any substantial tax reductions in his 16-point program, and in fact could only increase costs and taxes by implementing some of the plans.

Mr. St. Laurent said, however, that tax reductions, even "substantial savings," were possible if fighting ended in Korea.

"And you may be sure," he added, "that if we have another tremendous increase in production and income this year, an increase which looks like being reasonably sure of continuing, we will be in a position to make more tax cuts next year."

He said it was "absolutely impossible" for any party to carry out Drew's pledges, but suggested later a Conservative government might be able to effect the $500,000,000 tax cuts by helping to edge Canada into a depression.

To make the promised reductions, he said, Drew would have to make a corresponding reduction in expenditures and that would mean elimination of many essential services.

Attacks Statement Point by Point

The prime minister said that even if Drew wiped out the departments of agriculture, citizenship, external affairs, mines, public works, resources and commerce, he still could hope for a reduction of only $450,000,000. He could come close to the $500,000,000 by "tossing in" the National Research Council, the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation and the National Film Board.

He attacked the "Guelph declaration" point by point. Most of its projects, he said, were vague, and the others would be impossible to carry out or would increase expenditures.

"It is quite possible," he said, "that if Mr. Drew should be given his chance to form a government, the government would succeeded in reducing taxes in a way they never intended.

"If the country ceased to be prosperous, if employment declined, if national production and the national income went down, so would tax revenues—and it would not take long, under those conditions, to reduce taxes by $500,000,000.

"That is the kind of thing that happened when the Conservatives were in power the last time."

It was only last Friday that Drew was given a rousing ovation as he fired the Conservatives' opening election salvo here in his hometown. Tuesday night the Liberal leader was greeted just as enthusiastically.

Mr. St. Laurent was met at the station by several thousand cheering citizens and whisked away to city hall, where he was given the key to the city and signed the civic guest book.

Oak Bay Socred Resignations Ready Tonight

President Alexander Asks Confidence Vote On Suspension Issue

By GORDON FORBES

Two officials will submit their resignations to tonight's special closed meeting of the Oak Bay Social Credit Association, which will discuss the suspension of two government officials.

They are George Alexander, president, and A. R. Taylor, secretary-treasurer.

Mr. Alexander said he will ask the meeting to vote confidence or non-confidence in him as president and his actions in protesting to the government the suspension of D. A. C. Smith, purchasing agent, and A. B. Crowe, mechanical superintendent, for allegedly accepting a revised bid on a grader.

Mr. Taylor said he has been considering resigning for some time due to his physical condition, but the government's action in suspending the two senior civil servants forced him to go ahead.

"That put the cap on it," he said.

BACKS ALEXANDER

Mr. Taylor stressed that he is "100 per cent behind George Alexander."

Mr. Alexander is prepared to stake his office on the action he took in asking for a full inquiry into the suspension. He contended Mr. Smith and Mr. Crowe were suspended without proper investigation.

He will give a full report to the membership, along with W. A. Scott and Lou Holker, association members who supported Mr. Alexander's protest in an interview with Premier Bennett.

The government officials were given one-month suspensions by Premier Bennett because they allegedly allowed a quotation to be changed by a Vancouver firm after bids had been opened on purchase of a grader. Their action saved the government $500. Both men have said the saving actually had nothing to do with choice of the grader.

Some Oak Bay Socreds said there is a definite possibility Mr. Alexander's resignation will be accepted by the membership.

One member said the president's action has not met the approval of a majority of the members, and that "this isn't the first time Alexander has acted without authorization from the membership."

It is understood there is a move afoot to oust Mr. Alexander by calling for an annual meeting and election of officers, which is now overdue.

But any group intending to oppose Mr. Alexander's actions will have to contend with W. A. Scott and Lou Holker who have supported the president from the outset.

CANADIAN STAR IN U.K. WOMEN'S GOLF FINAL

PORTHCAWL, Wales (CP)—Canada's Marlene Stewart, the youngest girl in the tournament, today won her way into the final of the British women's open golf championship at the Royal Porthcawl links.

Miss Stewart of Fonthill, Ont., scored a 6 and 4 victory over Elizabeth Price of England.

TO JURY TOMORROW

Christie Case Nears Climax

LONDON (UP)—Defense and prosecution completed evidence today in the trial of John R. Christie, the "Notting Hill Strangler" who admitted the sex murders of at least seven women, and the case will go to the jury Thursday.

Two doctors wound up the Crown's case by testifying they believed Christie was "abnormal" but sane and knew what he was doing when he put his wife "to sleep" by strangling her last December 14.

After summations by prosecution and defense attorneys on Thursday, the jury will be called on to decide whether to send Christie to the gallows or accept the defense plea that he was insane.

Although he was tried only for his wife's murder, he confessed gassing and strangling at least six other women in 14 years at his Notting Hill apartment.

Christie completed his own testimony by sobbing out bizarre new details about how he murdered the last three of his victims. Then the prosecution began exhaustive cross-examination in an effort to shake the defense contention that the bald little man was "hopelessly and utterly mad" when he strangled his victims in a fit of passion.

After the defense concluded its case on the third day of one of the most lurid trials in British history, the prosecution called doctors who testified Christie knew what he was doing when he murdered his wife.

GOOD SCHOLAR

"He says he was a good scholar and a mental test that was given him bears that out," said Dr. J. C. M. Matheson, medical officer at Brixton prison, who had Christie under observation since he was locked up there April 1.

The doctor said the 55-year-old former clerk has a "hysterical personality" but "I think he was sane."

Matheson conceded "he is absolutely unique in my experience."

Dr. Desmond Curran, a London psychiatrist, told the court "the obvious motive was a sexual one," when asked why he believed Christie gassed some of his victims before strangling them.

Dr. Kemp Committed

The charge was laid by John J. Perdue, president of the Social Credit League of British Columbia. Mr. Perdue charges defamatory statements had been made by Dr. Kemp during the provincial election campaign. Bail was fixed at $1,000.

Saboteurs Wreck Train

SAIGON, Indo-China (AP)—Railway officials announced today that about 100 or more persons were killed when a passenger train plunged 50 feet through a sabotaged viaduct Tuesday in east Indo-China.

Back in Harness

For 20 years CCF leader in British Columbia, Harold Winch shoved aside retirement Tuesday night to move into federal politics for the first time. The 46-year-old former provincial leader, accepted a unanimous nomination to carry the CCF banner in Vancouver East riding in the Aug. 10 federal election. Angus McInnes, who held the Vancouver East seat in the last House of Commons, will contest the new Vancouver-Kingsway seat for the CCF in the August voting.

$3.75 Billion Bond Issue for Russia

LONDON (UP)—Soviet Russia plans to float a new state loan of 15,000,000,000 rubles—nominally $3,750,000,000—"for development of the Soviet Union national economy," the Moscow radio said today.

The new bonds will be offered for popular subscription in October and will mature in October, 1973, Moscow radio said.

Interest on the bonds will be paid in premiums based on an average of 3 per cent during the 20-year term, it was announced.

Subscribers also will take part in a lottery in which bonds bearing certain numbers will give their holders prizes ranging up to 10,000 rubles ($2,500). There will be two drawings each year. Bonds and lottery winnings will be tax exempt.

New French Move

PARIS (UP) — Millionaire textile manufacturer Joseph Laniel agreed today to try to form a government to end the country's longest cabinet crisis and fill France's seat at the Big Three Bermuda conference next month.

QUEEN MOTHER SPEAKS OUT ON HIGH TAXES

LONDON (AP)—Even Britain's Royal Family feels taxes—and doesn't like them too much.

Queen Mother Elizabeth, making an appeal for the National Art Collection Fund, told a public meeting Tuesday:

"We live in days when crushing taxation has made certain that enlightened patronage, which in the past has enriched England by possessions uncollected by other countries, cannot prosper.

"Many of the famous houses that housed these lovely collections stand empty and crumbling and their contents are being steadily dispersed.

"It is in these circumstances, happily, that the fund committee stepped in and plays the role of discerning patron. To them, all of us who value beauty owe a lasting debt."

Iniury Fatal After 6 Days

A workman injured on the Rocky Point arsenal project last Wednesday, died in St. Joseph's Hospital Tuesday after being unconscious for six days.

Inquest in the death of David Mason, 23, of Gillespie Road, Metchosin, is scheduled for 10.30 a.m. Thursday at Hayward's Funeral Parlor.

It is believed the young workman suffered a fractured skull when struck by a large piece of plywood as a pile of building material toppled in heavy wind.

Three other men knocked down in the mishap escaped uninjured.

Born in England, Mr. Mason is survived by his parents, at East Sooke, and a sister, Mrs. Barbara Donahue, 1232 Yates.

Funeral is scheduled at 1.30 p.m., Saturday, from St. Mary's Church, Metchosin.

RCAF Hunt Missing Plane in Northern B.C.

EDMONTON (CP) — The RCAF launched a search today for three men missing aboard a private Stinson aircraft since 7.36 p.m. MST Tuesday night while flying over northeastern British Columbia near the Alaska highway.

The pilot was identified only as a Mr. Kelly from Vancouver, Wash. He was carrying two passengers on a flight from the American centre to Whitehorse, Y.T.

Wreckage of Missing Flying Boxcar Sighted

TOKYO (AP) — Japan's maritime safety board said today the wreckage of a C-119 flying boxcar which vanished Tuesday has been spotted one mile off Tsukishima Island, near Hiroshima. The plane carried four crew members and three U.S. paratroopers. There was no mention of survivors. The big transport disappeared en route to Korea.

Million Demonstrators To Greet Truce Envoy

By ROBERT TUCKMAN

SEOUL (AP) — An emissary from Washington arrived in Tokyo today en route to critical talks with Syngman Rhee as the unyielding South Korean president vowed again to fight on alone.

His stand widened the split with his allies.

Thursday, third anniversary of the costly war, was expected to witness an anti-truce demonstration by 1,000,000 South Koreans.

As the bloody war ended its third year, these developments heightened the tension in Korea:

1. Walter S. Robertson, U.S. assistant secretary of state, carrying a secret note to Rhee from State Secretary Dulles, landed in Tokyo and was expected in the South Korean capital Thursday.

2. Rhee served official notice he would yank his 16-division army from United Nations control if an armistice is signed on present terms.

3. The leader of an anti-Rhee political party, Dr. Chough Pyong Ok, was severely beaten after speaking out against the Korean president's defiant truce stand.

4. Yoon Chi Yung, vice-speaker of the RoK National Assembly and an outspoken Rhee supporter, insisted that his country's armed forces "will not retreat even one step back" from the present battle-line.

In an impassioned letter to Gen. Mark Clark, Rhee said that under terms of the present armistice agreement "I do not see . . . how the RoK forces can remain under your command, however regrettable to us."

The letter, released today by Rhee, was dated Saturday — two days before Clark conferred twice with the defiant South Korean president in an apparently futile effort to win his approval of a truce.

In Pusan, the government named Thursday "northward advance-unification day" and ordered about 200,000 Koreans to rally in the city plaza for demonstrations, parades and speeches.

Chough Pyong Ok, leader of the Opposition Democratic Nationalist party and former home minister, was attacked in the home of a friend by four men he called "hoodlums."

Other Koreans ransacked Chough's house after he called Rhee's prisoner release order "unwise" and said they might isolate South Korea from the free world.

Asked if he thought the attack was ordered by the government, Chough said, "we don't know. One thing bad is that we can't say what we believe."

Lull Ends; Red Drive Knives Into UN Lines

SEOUL, Korea (UP) — Two full Communist regiments assaulted Allied positions on the central front today as the third year of the Korean war ended.

From 5,000 to 6,000 Reds drove into American and South Korean defenses around bloody Sniper Ridge and Boomerang Hill just west of Kumhwa.

One attack failed under strong American resistance, but the second assault lasted past sunup.

The Red regiments hit at two points, and each thrust broke into two spearheads.

A spearhead of 1,500 Communists bolted into a position occupied by the 7th Infantry Regiment of the U.S. Third Division at the Boomerang, an important position on a boomerang-shaped hill.

Another spearhead of 1,500 Chinese struck another position on Boomerang. South Koreans of the Ninth RoK Division killed or wounded 727 Communists in hand-to-hand fighting.

Five or six miles to the east, at Sniper Ridge, another Red Regiment hit 9th RoK positions and the fight continued in daylight.

The main force of the Sniper Ridge attack involved 2,500 Chinese. About 500 Reds attacked outposts at Jane Russell Hill and Sandy Ridge.

The western and eastern fronts remained quiet as more than 24 hours of rain turned the battleground into a sea of mud.

GARSON AGREES COMMUNISTS 'TRAITORS'

Buck Challenged to Repudiate Red's Doctrine of Revolution

OTTAWA (BUP) — Justice Minister Stuart Garson today challenged Canadian Communists to announce publicly whether they had repudiated the Communist objective of world domination by force.

Garson issued the challenge in a letter written to Tim Buck, national leader of the Labor Progressive Party on June 15. The minister's letter was in reply to a letter which Buck sent to Nelson J. Castonguay, chief electoral officer, on May 27.

Buck's letter to Castonguay charged that the government was using the Royal Canadian Mounted Police as "part of its election machinery." It also charged that the RCMP book, "Law and Order in Canadian Democracy," contained defamatory statements branding Communist traitors to Canada.

Garson said Buck's statement that the RCMP and the book on laws and order were being used in the interests of the Liberal Party were "completely false." He also denied that the book contained "police forgeries" and said all statements questioning the loyalty of Communists were based on fact.

PUBLIC INTERESTED

"If the revised program means that Canadian Communists have now repudiated in its entirety the Marx-Lenin-Stalin teaching on the ultimate resort to violence to bring about a Communist, as distinct from a Socialist state, I am srue that the Canadian public would be interested to hear it," Garson wrote:

"You will recall, of course, the closing words of the 'manifesto' repeated with variations by Communist leaders the world over: 'The Communists disdain to conceal their views and aims. They openly declare that their ends can be attained only by the forcible overthrow of all existing social conditions.

"Is the public henceforth to understand that this cardinal teaching now has been absolutely repudiated by Canadian Communists?" Garson asked.

The minister also said he agreed with the book's description of Communists and Communism. The book said that "the Communists are, on principle, traitors to everything sacred to Canadian democracy."

The RCMP, Garson said, "have a well-recognized duty to study subversive movements in Canada in order to arrive at an opinion as to the degree of danger, if any, presented by such movements to the internal security of the country. The lecture on 'Communism' gives such an opinion."

Garson said after weighing the evidence against Communism in Canada, "I find no reason to amend the description of Communists and Communism given in the lecture."

Calcutta Accords Hero's Welcome To Everest Guide

CALCUTTA (Reuters) — The Sherpa guide, Tenzing, one of the two men who has been on top of the world, got a hero's welcome when he arrived today in Calcutta.

Ten thousand persons were on hand to cheer Tenzing, who together with New Zealander Sir Edmund Hillary successfully scaled Mt. Everest.

Hillary and other members of the Everest expedition are expected here later today.

Next Monday the Everest team will be in New Delhi, the capital of India, where President Rajendra Prasad will present gold medals to Tenzing, Hillary and Col. Sir John Hunt, leader of the expedition.

Scots 'Crown' Elizabeth In 'Little Coronation'

EDINBURGH, Scotland (UP) — Queen Elizabeth II rode in state today to a national service at St. Giles' Cathedral, which proud Scots called a "little Coronation."

Pipers shrilled in the stately streets of this old capital of Scotland. Chiefs of the clans, eagle feathers in their bonnets, came down from fortress-castles to greet Elizabeth, not only as Queen of Britain but as a direct descendant of Mary Queen of Scots.

Thousands jammed the route known in Scottish history as "The Royal Mile" from Elizabeth's Holyroodhouse palace to the High Kirk of Edinburgh.

At the cathedral took place an event unique in Scottish history—"the honors of Scotland." The nation's crown, sword and sceptre were borne before a British queen and laid on the altar.

For one dramatic moment the Queen held the gold and jeweled crown in her hands—probably the first British monarch ever to touch it.

There were two historically significant factors in today's ceremony which Scots could not overlook.

Queen Elizabeth II is the daughter of a Scottish mother and a descendant of King Robert the Bruce. Today is the 639th anniversary of the Battle of Bannockburn in which Robert the Bruce defeated the English and established the independence of Scotland.

The cold, gusty weather prevailing as the crowds gathered broke into brilliant sunshine before the return ride from St. Giles.

There was only one disappointment for the Scots. They hopefully expected Queen Elizabeth would wear her Coronation gown. Instead she was dressed in a coat-frock of greenish-blue shantung silk with a hat of the same material.

It was the same costume she wore at the national service of thanksgiving and dedication at St. Paul's Cathedral after her Coronation.

Housing Project Covers 400 Acres

Plans for a new 2,000-home subdivision in Oak Bay have been presented to the municipality by the Hudson's Bay Company, it was learned Monday.

The proposed subdivision calls for development over a seven-year period of 400 acres of Hudson's Bay Company land bounded by Lansdowne, Cadboro Bay and Cedar Hill Crossroad and Saanich municipality.

Building permits will be issued for a few lots later this year but most of the land is not yet ready for sale, according to Oak bay engineer A. S. G. Musgrave.

Company and municipal officials who have co-operated in the planning say the scheme includes a shopping centre, recreation facilities, schools, as well as homes.

Model of the new development is a 70-acre section of modern homes immediately south of Lansdowne Road and Uplands golf course, the municipal engineer said. As in some parts of that area, electric power lines will be installed on rear lot lines and lines for street lights will be run on lot lines.

Essential services all will be installed before any building takes place.

First unit of the project has been surveyed and lots already have been sold through B.C. Land and Investment Agency, acting for the owners.

SON LOSES MOTHER'S $13,000 ON HORSE RACE

NEW YORK (AP)—Henry Way, who lost his mother's $13,000 life savings on the Kentucky Derby, escaped a trial for grand larceny Tuesday when the little 71-year-old woman forgave all.

Mrs. Lillian Way refused to press a complaint that her son took the money from a joint safety deposit box to bet on the Derby.

"I haven't long to live," she said. "I hope God will forgive my sins and I want to forgive my sons'."

Way, 43, who has three children and one grandchild of his own, bet the money on Derby favorite Native Dancer and lost by a head.

Ship Builders Sail As Guests of Owners

Families and Friends of Workers See Kahloke During Supper Cruise

By PETE LOUDON

If a ship can have a housewarming, Mv. Kahloke had hers Tuesday night.

The precision craftsmanship that went into the rebuilding of the new Black Ball's Nanaimo-Vancouver ferry proved her seaworthiness during last week's trials. Tuesday night she proved her worth as a passenger carrier.

One thousand employees of Yarrows Ltd. which did the conversion work on the ferry, their wives and families made the final test for her fine furnishings and spacious lounges.

Riveters, platers, fitters, welders and apprentices streamed aboard for a three-hour supper cruise at 6 p.m. They took their families and girl friends to the bridge, the engine rooms, the car deck and the steering engines.

While youngsters romped on deck, the grown-ups danced in the public spaces. A cargo of box lunches and other refreshments was tucked away during the evening.

It was the culmination of eight months' work for the men and a chance to show "what daddy does at the yards."

Hosts were Captain Alex Peabody, chairman of the board of Black Ball, and Capt. D. F. Reynolds, senior Kahloke captain and marine superintendent of the line.

Captain Peabody, in a short address, said the shipboard party was the best way he could think of to express the gratitude of his firm to the men who had proved, ". . . that shipbuilding craftsmanship in B.C. is unsurpassed."

TWO MORE CRUISES

There will be another cruise this evening for the balance of the workers and their families. A special inaugural sailing will leave Vancouver early Saturday with provincial and civic officials and invited guests, who will be entertained at Nanaimo by the Board of Trade.

Kahloke's schedule starts at 2 p.m. Saturday. She makes her first working departure from Nanaimo at that time and will make five trips daily the year around.

N.Z. Protests U.S. Dumping Proposals

Plan 'Alarms' Dairymen

By J. C. GRAHAM

AUCKAND, New Zealand (CP)—A vigorous New Zealand protest delivered in Washington today against a proposal to dump abroad $2,000,000,000 worth of surplus United States dairy products follows great alarm throughout this country at the United States plan.

Dairy industry leaders feel the entire economy of the country is endangered by the U.S. proposal. New Zealand has just concluded a new price agreement for the coming season for the sale of dairy produce to Britain. This provides for a 4-per-cent price increase for butter and cheese and a 7½-per-cent decrease for milk powders.

New Zealand feels the threat of U.S. action prevented better prices. Already returns to the dairy industry have been hard hit by the virtual closing of the U.S. market to dairy produce. The new threat to the remaining markets has raised a storm of resentment.

BELIEVE IN PROTEST

J. Scott Davidson, chairman of the dairy section of the New Zealand Federated Farmers, said today the farmers strongly believe in the government's protest. Said he:

"America is not playing the game if she puts produce on markets already supplied. New Zealand can't compete with dumping at prices below the cost of production."

No National Library Seen for Five Years

TORONTO (BUP) — Canada will not have a genuine national library for another four or five years.

Kaye Lamb, the national librarian, told the Canadian Authors' Association that it will take four years to complete a new building, and be ready for organization for the library itself.

The fire in the parliamentary library last summer helped speed up plans, he said, because the 500,000 books from the building had to be left in storage until the national library is finished.

SWIFT CURRENT, Sask. (CP) — The rebuilt $1,000,000 Saskatchewan Landing bridge north of here, damaged by ice jams during spring floods last year, is scheduled to be officially opened July 9.

More A-Bomb Tests for Britain Soon

CANBERRA (Reuters)—Britain will make further atomic tests in Australia in the near future, Sir Arthur Fadden, acting Australian prime minister, announced today.

He said they would be conducted in the South Australian desert, somewhere within the 10,000-square-mile prohibited area which includes the Woomera rocket testing ground.

It will be Britain's first atomic test on a land site. Last Oct. 3 an atomic weapon was set off in a British frigate moored at the barren Monte Bello Islands off the northwest Australian coast.

The object of that test was to study the effect of an atomic explosion in a harbor.

Funeral Held For Resident Of Early Days

Last rites for Mrs. Sarah Creelman, an early B.C. resident who died Tuesday at the age of 93, will be held at McCall's Funeral Chapel Thursday at 4.30 p.m.

It will be a private service, conducted by Rev. Frank Johnson, after which the remains will be forwarded to Vancouver for burial in the Masonic Cemetery.

Mrs. Creelman was born in Truro, N.S. She came to B.C. as a bride, where her husband, the late Herbert Creelman, worked as a railroad engineer on a CPR construction camp. They lived at Revelstoke, Vancouver and Victoria.

Surviving is a daughter, Mrs. Claude L. Campbell of Gabriola Island, four grandchildren and eight great-grandchildren.

She was predeceased by her husband; a son, Hugh Creelman, who was principal of Lampson Street School in Esquimalt, and a daughter, Mrs. Maude Williamson.

Abducted Child Back In Winnipeg

WINNIPEG (CP)—A five-year-old girl arrived here late Tuesday from Vancouver sitting on the lap of the man charged with her abduction.

Linda Verfaillie, missing for 34 days, and subject of a continent-wide search for the last nine days, listened as George Prevost read her a story about a fire engine on the plane returning from Vancouver.

Mrs. Bernadette Verfaillie first reported Linda missing 25 days after Prevost took her for a holiday. The pair were found in a Vancouver hotel Sunday after Prevost wired a friend in Churchill, Man., for money.

All the way home Linda played with Prevost and his RCMP escort. At the airport she waved goodbye to the man she calls daddy and was whisked home in a police car. Prevost was clapped in a police cell.

Infant Saved From Flaming Home

Gas Fumes Cause of Fire City Investigation Shows

Gasoline vapors from an open can several yards away from a stove were responsible for a fire that caused $3,000 damage Tuesday to the rented home of Mrs. Wilma Anderson at 3130 Balfour.

Fire Chief Frank Briers said today a gallon can of white gasoline, used for a small gas burner, had been left on the back porch, with the lid off.

Miss Irene Overy, who was caring for three Anderson children while their mother was at work, had lit the kitchen stove and when she opened the back door, vapors from the gasoline came into the kitchen and were ignited in a flash explosion, the chief said.

Miss Overy escaped injury but the flash started the porch on fire which spread quickly to other parts of the house.

Dr. Kemp Faces Two More Actions In Supreme Court

VANCOUVER (CP) — Independent candidate Dr. W. N. Kemp has been named defendant in two more Supreme Court suits.

John J. Perdue, president of the B.C. Social Credit League, Tuesday issued a writ against the doctor for damages for slander he alleges was uttered against him June 4.

The second new suit against Dr. Kemp is by the Milwaukee Insurance Company of Milwaukee, Wis., for the return of $2,210 the company claims was paid him in error.

Strike Threat of Beer Waiters in Vancouver Ended

VANCOUVER (CP) — The threat of a strike of beer parlor waiters here ended Tuesday when their union and hotel owners agreed to submit to an impartial arbiter the one point which remains unsettled.

The point at issue involves the operators' objection to including part-time workers in a health and welfare plan as asked by the Beverage Dispensers' Union, AFL. The arbiter's decision will be binding on both parties.

The beer parlor waiters and bartenders had voted in favor of strike action which would have closed all beer parlors in Vancouver and North Vancouver.

Letter Carriers Want Two Deliveries a Day

QUEBEC (CP)—Canada's letter carriers want to resume the system of two mail deliveries a day, the national convention of the Civil Service Federation of Canada was told Tuesday.

Studying resolutions of the federation's welfare committee, the 300 delegates moved, without debate, to support the Federated Association of Letter Carriers.

The resolution called for the federation to appeal to the government to resume the system, abandoned some years ago in favor of one delivery a day.

Kiwanis Village Open to Public

First Units of Low-Rent Group To Be Displayed Over Week-End

Kiwanis Village is going to be open to visitors Saturday and Sunday.

As an added attraction, a television set will be given away as a door prize.

The first six homes to be completed in the planned 38-home low-rent development for elderly Victoria couples will be open between 2 and 8 p.m. both days.

Thirty - thousand invitations have been sent to Greater Victoria homes. Each is numbered for a chance at the TV set.

President of Kiwanis Village Ltd., Edward Mallek said there will be directional signs at the corner of Hillside and Fernwood pointing the way to 2900 block Cedar Hill Road, site of the project.

The open-house is part of a continuing drive to raise funds for completion of Kiwanis Village. The public may send donations to the Kiwanis Club of Victoria, or through any chartered bank in the area.

Mr. Drew's Promissory Note

MR. DREW'S ELECTION PLATform cannot be understood in mathematical terms. It defies the simple laws of addition and subtraction. In political terms it is easily understood—Mr. Drew is promising the paradox of increased expenditures and reduced taxes. The danger of such a promise is that the voters will understand its fallacy too well.

The platform begins with an outright pledge to reduce taxes by at least $500 millions or about a ninth of the existing rates. It is just conceivable, though unlikely, that Mr. Drew could cut this amount from the government's present budget by drastic economies which necessarily would include reductions in military expenditures. But then Mr. Drew goes on to promise new expenditures which would far outweigh these reductions.

The Conservative party's policy, as laid down at its last convention and expanded by Mr. Drew's speeches in Parliament, involves new expenditures of something like $2 billions, or an increase in the total budget of about fifty per cent.

In his recent policy speech at Guelph Mr. Drew ignores these former pledges but promises, among other things, a scheme of contributory national health insurance by co-operation between the federal government and the provinces. The word "contributory" does not alter the cost of such a scheme in the least, since all contributions must come from the tax-paying public; and whether the bill is paid by federal or provincial governments, or both, the same taxpayers must meet it.

According to the best calculations of federal government experts, a national scheme of health insurance would cost about $500 millions a year at the beginning. As our experience with old age pensions and hospital insurance has shown, these costs usually exceed the original estimate and constantly increase.

This one item alone, therefore, would probably cancel out the proposed savings of half a billion. But health insurance is only one item in Mr. Drew's budget.

When, for example, he promises "fair" floor prices for agricutural products, in a bid for the farm vote, he must be planning to subsidize the farmers at an increased rate at the cost of the federal treasury. Otherwise this promise is meaningless.

When he promises a new taxation deal for the provinces it is obvious from his own record in this matter that the provinces are to receive either more money from the federal treasury or the right to a wider local tax field, the ordinary Canadian paying the shot either way.

All these and other expansions in federal costs are outlined in the most general terms. Mr. Drew evidently hopes that the public will not realize what they involve in taxes. On the other hand, the promise of a half-billion-dollar tax reduction is specific and it is to be performed by the elimination of present "waste."

What economies does Mr. Drew have in mind?

In the last four years he has been leading the parliamentary opposition. He has had ample opportunity to oppose the government's expenditures in detail as they came before Parliament.

While he has sometimes attacked a few minor items, which endanger no local votes, he has never proposed economies of any substance. He has never indicated where an amount like $500 millions, or any large fraction of it, could be lopped from the budget. He does not tell the public now what items of expenditure or what departments of government would be affected by his proposed economies.

As Mr. Pearson remarks, Mr. Drew asks for the chance to perform a sleight-of-hand trick — with one hand drastic cuts in spending and, with the other, far larger increases.

Mr. Drew cannot be criticized for desiring tax reductions. Everyone desires them and the present government began them in this year's budget, going as far as it could under existing conditions. When Mr. Drew promises economy and tax reductions in general and then promises increased expenditures in particular, he is not being candid with the electorate. His platform is the desperate gambler's fling of a man who sees the election already lost.

A Return on the Investment

IT HAS BEEN THE CUSTOM among some large business firms for the past few years to recruit new employees among the annual crop of prospective university graduates. By so doing, these far-seeing organizations have obtained for themselves the best the country has to offer in the way of trained intelligence.

While obviously many eventual leaders come up the hard way, through long apprenticeship and energetic work, it is naturally an advantage in any industry or enterprise to have a solid core of young men who have absorbed the best that modern science and teaching can offer.

The corporations that have filled their ranks from this source have benefited greatly. By actively seeking the man, through personal interviews at the universities rather than waiting for chance applicants, they have ensured a steady influx of new blood, new ideas and new effort.

But civil services, which represent about 10 per cent of the country's working force according to one informed estimate, do not appear to take advantage of the opportunities they could share with private industry. Instead of visiting the universities and lining up leading students for future positions, says Prof. E. D. McPhee, director of the UBC School of Commerce, the "government sends a circular, formal and precise, that has as much appeal as a left-over lunch."

There was one exception, however, Prof. McPhee remarked. And the government which took the trouble on one occasion to interview graduates won applications from most of the class.

"There is too much screening in your service, and not enough going after the people you want," the UBC professor told the Civic Service Assembly convention here. That is advice that might well be heeded. The graduates of British Columbia's University have had no difficulty in finding places in private industry and in the government services, both provincially and federally. But too often, in the case of the civil service, the successful culmination has been haphazard rather than the result of intelligent planning by the government departments concerned.

The public has a heavy investment in the education of youth. It deserves the best return possible in the form of services from those who might be encouraged to make public service a career.

Color and Tradition

THE SUCCESS OF SUNSET flag ceremonies, conducted by various defence and patriotic groups during June in front of the Parliament Buildings, raises hopes that the program might be continued throughout the summer months.

Throngs of citizens have attended the functions and have been joined by many of our seasonal visitors in praising the smartness with which the drills have been carried out.

Originally planned only for this month, under the direction of Ald. Brent Murdoch, himself a major, the "Retreats" have been given excellent co-operation by the army, navy, air force, reserve army, RCMP, University School, Sea Cadets and other cadet groups in this area.

As a means of drawing attention to one of the old military traditions as well as providing a colorful function for our own people and tourists, the events have been widely appreciated. The interest they have stirred might very properly encourage the different units in this area to persuade Ald. Murdoch to arrange an extension of the program.

Welcome Civil Defense Move

SATISFACTION SHOULD BE general over the arrangements by which civil defense workers injured while training will be covered by the Workmen's Compensation Act.

The decision reached by federal and provincial governments on that point overcomes a situation which has been a source of wide concern.

The absence of such protection was a discouragement to individuals who might wish to devote their time and energies to an undertaking of community benefit. Many who might otherwise have been willing to undergo training in preparation for an emergency have declined to participate because they were given no assurance of compensation in case of accident.

That hurdle is now removed.

French Toast

Chips

BY DAVID BROCK

I'VE been re-reading "The Horse's Mouth," that excellent if slightly immoral novel by Joyce Carey (it should still be available in the Penguin edition). The passage I like best is where the narrator and hero, an impoverished painter, is snooping round a rich man's flat. "Usual modern collection. Wilson Steer, water in watercolor. Matthew Smith, victim of the crime in slaughtercolor. Utrillo, whitewashed wall in mortarcolor. Matisse, odalisque in scortacolor. Picasso, spatchock horse in tortacolor. Gilbert Spencer, cocks and pigs in thoughtacolor. Stanley Spencer, cottage garden in hortacolor. Braque, half a bottle of half-and-half in portercolor. William Roberts, pipe dream in snortacolor. Wadsworth, rockses, blockses, and fishy-fishy boxes all done by self in nauticolor. Duncan Grant, landscape in strawtacolor. Epstein, Leah waiting for Jacob in squawtacolor. Frances Hodgkins, cows and wows and frows and sows in chortacolor. Rouault, perishing saint in fortacolor. All the most high-toned and expensive. 'I can see your friends are rich people,' I said. 'That is, really nice and charming. I like them very much already.' I had a look round the bedrooms. Silk underdrawers in Sir William's wardrobe. And nothing but silk. Piles of fine white handkerchiefs. "I suppose he is the sort of man who has a clean handkerchief every day," I said."

Brock

I should like to see an illustrated edition of that wonderful list for sale in all galleries. But it would be churlish not to be grateful for it just as it stands.

POETRY CORNER

A deist, as perhaps you know, is a man who believes in some sort of God, in a rather vague way. Which led me to compose the following lines:

A deist is a man
Who knows the tune
But doesn't know the words.

A theologian is a man
Who knows the words
But has forgotten the tune.

GOOD CLEAN SPORT

THE anonymous naturalist who writes for The Times Weekly Review has drawn attention to a new sport among British birds. It used to be thought that a few species, such as jackdaws and storks, would nest inside or on top of a chimney in spite of the smoke. The advantages outweighed the discomfort. A few other species would select disused chimneys, hoping no fire would be lit. But now it appears that many birds actually like smoke. And the fashion is growing. Many observers report martins or swallows or swifts looking for good big factory chimneys, and then playing in the smoke for hours, laughing fit to kill.

THE latest and biggest development of the fashion is among a group of seagulls (in Hampshire, I think). They spend their leisure time looking for steam locomotives. They dash through the really horrible smoke as close to the stack as possible. They probably go home coughing and dizzy. But that's how lots of humans go home from parties, isn't it? In any event, they obviously enjoy it. How they must hate electric trains, and diesel ones. Prohibition will soon be here. The only people against anti-smoke laws are the birds, those creatures of nature.

EVEREST

EVERYONE points out, without belittling Tensing and Hillary in any way, how much that gallant and wiry pair owes to Colonel Hunt and the whole party. Fair enough, as the pair will continue to make plain. But although Colonel Hunt will be pointing another thing out in his writings, not enough papers have mentioned it yet. I refer to each expedition's debt to previous expeditions. It's obvious to us all, when we stop to consider it. But how do we stop, in our excitement over the final success? The late Frank Smythe owed much to things learnt by parties in the 20's. Shipton was, as you might say, taught by Smythe from the very start. The Swiss would not have done so magnificently last year without Shipton's long reconnaissances. And of course, the Swiss experiences last year, especially with oxygen equipment, had a great deal to do with the plans for this year. Hillary was also learning under Shipton in '51.

THIS is far from saying anyone could now do what Tensing and Hillary did! Anything but. It's just a gentle reminder that even those two couldn't have made it by starting from scratch. Of course, on the other side of the picture we have the unchanging difficulties that no previous knowledge can alter. The terrible and huge cliffs, which look so much easier than they are because of foreshortening. The outward-sloping formation of the ledges. The weather, including the wind. The avalanches on a scale not known in the Alps. Perhaps one of the most curious things is the hardness of the Himalayan ice. Being so much harder than Swiss ice, it entails greater exhaustion in cutting steps. And since even the lightest work is exhausting at those heights, the hard ice is not just a minor nuisance but can make all the difference.

SMYTHE refers to this ice again and again in his book on Kangchenjunga . . . a mountain even more dangerous than Everest and almost as high. Here's luck to Tensing and Hillary if ever they tackle that one!

As Our Readers See It

GREAT SCOTT

Fourteen thick volumes of mine, of Sir Walter Scott's books, an earliest edition, announced in gold lettering as "The Waverley Novels," set me wondering, even in my youth, "Why Waverley?" as the single volume entitled "Waverley" bears no resemblance whatsoever to Scott's literary genius.

These books include numerous notes, etc., attributed to Scott, in extremely small print. Lately I tackled this small print, attempting to find out "why Waverley?".

Sir Walter Scott flatly denied having written "Waverley," first published at La Fayette Place, New York, in 1819.

In the "notes" contained in this book, all the devils in hell, I should think, couldn't think up more ways for Scott to insult himself.

Their ingenuity makes the insults lately bestowed biographically on Prime Minister Mackenzie King appear infantile in comparison.

It may be difficult for modernists to realize what a bombshell of bitterness was loosened among secret history twisters by Scott's historic books, a form of literature hitherto unknown, translated into many foreign languages.

In middle Europe at this period, the lords of creation, finding it inconvenient that their serfs had no surnames, bestowed Scottish surnames on them, taken from Sir Walter Scott's novels—So says Carlyle.

TAKES EXCEPTION

My letter "In the Schools," June 10, evidently has got under the skin of your correspondents Saxum Tun Whykeham and E. Hunt, June 13 and 17 respectively, and possibly some others. Well, that is exactly what it was meant to do.

It is typical of their ilk that they would like to prevent those who differ with them to voice their opinion, while, at the same time, their side incessantly clutters up paper and air with their poison; they probably would go so far as to use the methods of the inquisition —Tower of London?—if they only dared.

They can't argue, since they have no leg to stand on.

They talk about our "negative" ideas, while their slavish following of self-appointed deputy-gods is the culmination of all that stands in the way of progress.

Both these correspondents and all like them better read astronomical professor Fred Hoyle's (an Englishman, by the way) book "The Nature of the Universe" as soon as it is out.

CORONATION

Not only has the film "A Queen Is Crowned" been acclaimed a masterpiece of pageantry and the photographic art but, according to intellectuals on all sides, it is recognized as having a profound spiritual significance in a national sense. Before the crowning took place the Queen made dedication of herself, not only as an individual but as the representative of the people and in the name of the Commonwealth. As one writer puts it:

"It is almost a spiritual headship, and the Coronation is practically an ordination to an office . . . It is a miracle with both political and personal poignancy. Politically the Coronation elevates the Commonwealth and its relation to its head as no act, not even the Statute of Westminster, is able to do. The Commonwealth countries now form a fellowship bound to one another through a common allegiance to a person."

These facts have their origin in God's promise to the patriarch Jacob. "A nation and company of nations shall be of thee," as stated in Genesis 12:2 and sundry other prophecies. According to the Rev. James Maitland of Edinburgh, the British Commonwealth is a fulfilment of the Divine promise to bless mankind, and the Coronation could be a decisive turning point to bring this about in a spectacular manner.

FOOD COSUMPTION

Anent that item in your news from Peterborough Ont. (CP)—Each Canadian ate an average of 1,500 pounds of food last year, but only 14 pounds of this was fish, Fisheries Minister Sinclair claims. The fishing industry is faced with market resistance, but if Canadians would eat one more pound of fish each a year, the problem would be solved, he said (Times, May 7).

I would like a little more light thrown on the above decidedly interesting picture; because it seems to this man-in-the-street that the solution is not quite so simple.

My understanding is that the quantity of fish landed annually in Canadian waters ranges around one billion pounds; that the domestic market (at 14 pounds per person per year) would call for, say 200 million pounds? If Canadians consumed "one more pound of fish each a year," this, obviously, would create a demand for an extra million pounds in the home market. This would be a step in the right direction, but it is difficult for me to see that "the problem would be solved."

Even if 50 per cent of the poundage "landed," goes to waste, fertilizer, or is inedible, there would still be the bulk of the fish available to, and dependent upon, the export markets.

Personally, I endorse the suggestion of that extra pound of fish per year; but I also very much question the assertion that each Canadian ate an average of 1,500 pounds of food last year. I think the official intake, used by the nutritional experts in their statistics, namely, 1,000 pounds, closer to the target and the facts.

"DOWN EAST."

MORE THAN HEARSAY NOW

We have just read your front page article in Saturday's Times, by Gordon Forbes, in reference to the suspension of two civil servants for, allegedly, improper action in connection with a tender on a grader.

The action of the government is in accord with its pre-election pledge for open tenders. The fact that one of the tenderers approached a civil seryant and offered to reduce the price, by virtue of a saving in freight, would seem to have been improper. The fact that there would be a saving of $500 to the government, is not pertinent to the issue. There was a violation of principle, which the civil servants well knew. If they had any doubt about it, they could have referred the matter to the minister concerned.

The next point is, that certain Social Credit members have called for an investigation, to see if the action of the ministers conforms to Social Credit principles. We should like to submit that the action of ministers of the Crown is their own responsibility. The government is responsible to the people, and not to any party or group. The Civil Service has its own grievance committee to deal with matters of complaint within the Service.

The latter part of the report would seem to explode the whole works. I quote from the Times report:

"Although no official detailed explanation of the alleged 'mistake' made by the two officials has been made, the facts have leaked out through unofficial sources."

What possible public interest can there be in a report which is based on hearsay? The public is interested in the truth, not "information from unofficial sources." The government cannot afford to base its actions on hearsay. Until the contrary is proven, we shall assume the government has acted in good faith, to protect the people it represents.

Back of Moscow's Moves

New York Times

BY THIS time there can be little doubt that the new leaders of the Soviet Union are engaged in the most sustained and comprehensive "peace offensive" of recent times.

The conciliatory words spoken three months ago by Messrs. Malenkov, Beria and Molotov shortly after Stalin's death have been followed by a change of tactics, the impact of which has been felt on such diverse problems as that of concluding a peace in Korea, writing a new convention for the Turkish Straits and selecting a new Secretary General for the United Nations. New fluidity has been introduced into the international situation, giving rise to hopes in some quarters that the deadlocks and tensions of recent years may soon be resolved.

ABRUPT CHANGE

Students of Soviet history know that this abrupt change is not without precedent, and that there is an ideological rationalization for it in the old Communist maxim that one should not hesitate to take a step backward in order to take two steps forward. Lenin supplied the first model for such a change in 1921 when he introduced the New Economic Policy at home and settled down to seeking normalized relations with an unexpectedly strong non-Communist world. Somewhat more than a decade later the rise of Hitler and the menace of Japan brought a switch to the "united front" policy and Maxim Litvinov became the great proponent of collective security in the League of Nations. In August, 1939, the switch was in the other direction as the Nazi-Soviet Pact was signed and Soviet spokesmen proclaimed that fascism was "a matter of taste." Less than two years later Hitler's invasion forced another reversal and the "imperialistic British warmongers" of May, 1941, became "our gallant allies" of July, 1941.

SAME OBJECTIVE

In the perspective of history it is now clear that each of these reversals had essentially the same objective: the strengthening of Soviet power and the weakening or diverting of what Moscow considered the chief enemy at the time. The central goal of world domination, though soft-played, and even denied at times, has remained constant.

Against this background the meaning of the moves now being made in Germany, in Austria, in Korea and elsewhere is clear. The new rulers in Moscow took power at a time when the opposing camp, the free world, was making rapid strides toward unity and greater strength—strides symbolized by such factors as NATO and the European Defense Community. The progress made by such efforts had proved clearly that Stalin's purely verbal peace offensives had been inadequate and that a more vigorous, more imaginative tactic was required. This is clearly the genesis of the new gestures from Moscow, and the destruction of the free world's unity is just as clearly the aim of these maneuvers.

We can never afford to forget that Stalin's successors are not only his heirs, but also his former closest co-workers and pupils. It was Malenkov to whom the leaders of the Canadian spy ring reported before that ring was broken. It was Molotov who discussed the division of the world with Hitler and Ribbentrop. To think that these men and their colleagues have suddenly been transformed into human personifications of Picasso's doves is to let illusion replace reason.

Any concessions the Kremlin makes today it makes because unrest behind the Iron Curtain and free world strength abroad require concessions. The way to obtain further concessions and really to increase the prospects for a lasting peace is to maintain unbroken strength and unity among the nations and the peoples whom communism seeks to enslave.

RED FUTURE

The nations of Western Europe will pass through this phrase of integration later. . . Everything will be shaped by the Centre. . . . The Universal City will be realized when a son of the Kirghiz steppes waters his horses in the Loire, and a Sicilian peasant plants cotton in Turkmen valleys. Small wonder the writer smiles at propaganda that cries for a freeing of colonies from the grasp of imperialistic powers. . . . What fools (Western Communists) are! He can forgive their oratory if it is necessary as propaganda. But they believe most of what they proclaim about the sacred Centre; and that is unforgivable. Nothing can compare to the contempt he feels for these sentimental fools.

—Czeslaw Milosz, in "The Captive Mind."

ON THE TIMES

By ART STOTT

The Golden Sea Lords

SEVERAL years ago Bruce McKelvie asked a panel of provincial educationists why they didn't turn more to our Coast Indians for source material for young students. There were books and books to be written about the natives, he said. And they covered all manner of subjects.

Bruce figured Hans Anderson and the Grimms had nothing in their fairy tales that Indian legends couldn't provide. He thought the stories of chivalry, Ivanhoe and the rest, were based on backgrounds no more colorful or romantic than the legends of the tribes. For adventure, culture, human events, excitement, conflict—any of the ingredients that go toward magnetic fact reading or fiction—the Indians provided a mine of matrial.

Stott

You'll understand his point if you've heard H. L. G. Kelly, outline some of the Haida history over CBC. Kelly, "Geordie" to his brother Reg, the secretary of B.C.'s continuing committee on Indian affairs, talks about the natives' secret societies.

It's a fascinating story, gruesome in parts, but an interesting commentary on an Indian life unknown to most present-day Canadians. It's part of the fabric of the Golden Sea Lords, whose great war canoes struck on Viking raids from Alaska to Oregon.

KNIGHTS OF THE SEA

If you've been raised on the conventional Anglo-Saxon stories of past ages, it's difficult to realize that the Haidas, too, had their feudal system. Their knights didn't ride light draught horses and wrap themselves up on metal armor. They rode canoes and their standards of chivalry weren't based on the Arthurian legends.

But there were the nobles and the slaves, the aristocracy and conventional castes known to the students of early history. And there were societies so secret that current lodges seem almost gossipy by comparison.

"Geordie" traces qualifications for membership in such groups. He notes the rigid standards of tribal honor a candidate had to show before he could seek admittance. He outlines the ordeals of initiation and the gradual assumption by the novitiate of peculiar and supernatural powers. He speaks of the days of fasting and thirst in the wilderness, the purification ceremonies and the incredible simulation of cannibalism, the most degrading horror inflicted on any Coast Indian, which went into the testing of the young brave seeking membership.

Through his story runs the thread of symbolism so significant in the Indian ceremonial dances and songs, the importance of honorable repute defined in the totems, and the position of superiority enjoyed by the Indian nobles.

CLEAR-CUT VIRTUES

These, as Mr. Kelly points out, were the leaders of a warlike tribe which placed ultimate judgment on courage, self-control, endurance and loyalty in the physical world, and worshipped the deities of the seasons, the sun, moon, stars, wind, earth, the tides and the seas.

The background of the Kelly family lends the account authenticity. The traditions and rituals are still in the memory of very old Indians—sons of men who participated in the ceremonies and who recall the days of the giant, hand-hewn canoes with their war parties.

To the student they are valuable sources of information to compare with civilizations of a much earlier day, and important studies in the evolution of society.

To the people of this province they have a particular appeal, reminding them of a highly colorful and comparatively recent past. They provide the setting against which to [illegible] a feudal age among our natives to their present-day assimilation into the mid-twentieth century.

FROM WASHINGTON

By JOSEPH and STEWART ALSOP

A Million at a Time

WHO has heard of megadeaths? Can you define a megaton? And would you know a megabuck if you saw one?

In this strange phase of the Korean fighting, these questions are relevant, and for a curious reason. If a truce comes, it will wind up what we are likely to remember—if there is any memory—as the last serious war on something resembling a human scale.

Stewart

The scale would indeed have surprised the great commanders of the past. On a quiet day on the Korean front, settling nothing, leading nowhere, the casual expenditure of ammunition must have been perhaps ten times the terrible fire of Napoleon's artillery in the inferno of Austerlitz.

Yet the scale of the Korean fighting was wholly human, for all that. The outfits, the commanders, even the soldiers in the ranks still somehow retained their individuality; still showed and made their individual marks against the bloody background of the fighting. For one who went from the inhuman, gigantic intricacies of world politics to the dusty, doubtful front in Korea, as one of these reporters did, the reality of the war was very nearly a relief, very nearly a refreshment.

One could cheer for those who won through, as men who had met a great challenge, and not as mere automata who had somehow escaped the blind brutality of destiny. And those who fell could also be remembered as men, as individual human beings, no different, despite the GI fatigues, the comic books and the bazookas from all the men who have fallen bravely fighting for their countries in all the centuries of history.

Over them, indeed, on could properly repeat Simonides' great epitaph inscribed upon the tomb of the Spartans at Thermopylas. The men who died to hold the pass send to their people a message from this common grave.

"Go stranger, and in Lacedaemon tell that here, obedient to the laws, we fell."

In the peace, if peace comes, mere men, mere citizens, mere soldiers will hardly count, however. The Medal of Honor winner and the engineer from Pusan, the battle-worn GI and the mechanic who tended a jet on Taegu airfield will all be merged and lost and forgotten, along with all the rest of us, in the great mass of people who do not know about megatons and megabucks and megadeaths. History will return to the sole charge of the special sect of officials who know about these things.

It is perhaps time to answer the questions with which this report opened. What is a megaton? It is a measure of the explosive power of an atomic or thermonuclear weapon—a bomb of one megaton has the explosive power of a million tons of TNT. What is a megadeath? It is the death of a million human beings—as in the phrase, "a saturation attack resulting in eight megadeaths." And what is a megabuck? It is a million dollars—as in the sentence, "it will cost so and so many thousand megabucks to deliver (or to prevent) an attack of X-megaton power, which may be expected to result in Y-megadeaths."

The simple fact that such words as these have become part of the arcane jargon of the few hundred men who know, speaks volumes about our time and our condition.

In the poem which will look well on the grave-markers of these men who know, W. H. Auden astutely said:

"The last word on how we may live or die
"Rests today with quiet
"Men, working too hard in rooms that are too big.
"Reducing to figures
"What is the matter, what is to be done.

"A neat little luncheon
"Of sandwiches brought to each on a tray,
"Nourishment they are able "To take with one hand without looking up—
"From problems no smiling
"Can dismiss."

For such as these, a megadeath has lost all human meaning, being reduced to a mere statistic in papers so top secret that they are carried from office to office in locked brief-cases by men of the rank of major or over, who are worried by their receding hairlines and the doubts about their promotions caused by their dull assignment.

IN HOLLYWOOD

By ALINE MOSBY

Debra Paget Blossoms Out

HOLLYWOOD (UP)—Debra Paget has abdicated as the world's only dateless and kissless movie actress. She's switching to sex appeal and even blissfully admitted "I'm in love."

This calls for a switch in the editorial policy of the fan magazines, which have been spanking Debra with paternal prose for refusing to date the gay young blades of the plaster city.

Now Debra, who'd never bussed a man before except in movie scenes, has decided at the age of 20 to take the plnge.

"It's a secret who he is," she said with a girlish giggle. "I'm in love and I've been kissed and that's all I'll say."

Debra's blossoming out has the familiar change-to-sex-appeal fever that's also hit Jeanne Crain, Joanne Dru, Jane Powell, Ann Baxter and other actresses. Like those movie queens, Debra has changed her dark hair to blonde.

She's now sporting a spaniel-type hair-do, with flaps of hair hanging over her ears, for her role of a Christian virgin martyr in 20th Century-Fox's "Demetrius," the sequel to "The Robe."

In one scene, Debra is ravished by six burly gladiators before she is thrown to the lions.

After the movie is finished, the one-time kissless actress will also hit the night-club circuit with a song-and-dance act at the Sahara Hotel in Las Vegas, Nev., and the Royal Hawaiian in Honolulu.

Though Debra has become more daring, her mother, as usual, still sits on the sidelines of the movie set.

"Debra and I are just kind of pals," she said. Why would I not want her to date? I started dating when I was 12, and married at 16.

"All the boys try to butter up to me, thinking that's the way to get a date with Debra. They send me presents. I just tell them, 'You're trying to milk the cow to get the calf!' and they admit it."

WEATHER SYNOPSIS

VICTORIA'S SUNSHINE RECORD TO DATE, 1953—831.5 HOURS

SYNOPSIS: The Pacific high pressure area which gives the province its real summer weather remains at anchor a few hundred miles west of the coast. However, a pool of cold air which has caused such a prolonged cool and showery spell is moving eastward out of the province. In consequence the outlook is improving though it is still far from rosy. The sun should be seen at times during the afternoon and temperatures should begin to climb slowly. Shower activity for the next two days should be scanty.

COURTENAY — Native Sons of Canada, Courtenay Post, will celebrate the 25th anniversary July 1 of the official opening of their peeled log hall here.

Built by volunteer labor, and through donations from logging and lumber companies, it cost $34,000 to complete and is now valued at $100,000. If logs used were sawn into lumber they would provide material to build 75 four-roomed houses.

It was opened in 1928 by Lieutenant-Governor Randolph Bruce.

COURTENAY—386 Air Cadet Squadron of Courtenay will compete with the 135 Squadron of Vancouver at Comox Airport Thursday for the coveted Nick Carter trophy, emblematic of the provincial drill championship.

NANAIMO—Edward Pho, 23, was sentenced to four years Tuesday by Magistrate Lionel Beevor-Potts on a charge of possessing narcotics.

"It does more than murder the body—it kills the mind," the magistrate said of the crime when passing sentence.

CUMBERLAND—Three mine rescue teams and 15 first aid [illegible] urday in the annual field day sponsored by Vancouver Island branch, B.C. Mine Safety Association.

The rescue teams, two from T'Sable River and one from Princeton, will compete in a mock mine layout with members wearing full oxygen equipment weighing 30 pounds.

SIDNEY—Peninsula Players, newly-organized Saanich peninsula theatre group, will present three one-act plays Friday and Saturday night at North Saanich High School. Only four of the 30 members have had previous acting experience.

DUNCAN—A cheque for $325 was presented Tuesday by Duncan Zenith Gyro Club to Cowichan District Community Centre Association.

W. L. Matthew, association head, who accepted the money, said the centre now has almost enough funds to meet the final payment on its 11-acre grounds that cost $9,000 two years ago.

Proceeds of July 1 celebrations will be used to develop the grounds.

Aged, Children Would Suffer if Taxes Cut—Croll

TORONTO (BUP)—Progressive Conservative chief George Drew could cut taxes by $500,000,000, only by restricting family allowances and old age pensions, David Croll (Lib., Toronto-Spadina) told the Liberal Businessmen's Club here.

Drew planned introducing "the inhuman means test and giving these benefits as acts of charity—a Tory handout," Croll said Tuesday.

A means test would cut in half the $750,000,000 it now costs to maintain the social measures, he said, and Drew "knew where he could get the money—out of the pockets of the old, out of the mouths of children."

Attlee Accepts Tito's Invitation for Visit

LONDON (AP) — Ex-Prime Minister Attlee has accepted "in principle" an invitation from Yugoslav President Tito to visit Belgrade next August, Attlee's secretary said Tuesday night. The secretary added that the exact date of the visit is still to be fixed.

St. John Workers Win Certificates

The St. John Ambulance Brigade of Victoria has released names of 19 candidates who received industrial first aid certificates June 17.

They are Katherine Mary Massey, Eleanor Buswell, Stanley Crook, George Edward Davis, Vernon C. Edwards, Shirley Eileen Gyves, Frederick J. Holman, Clyde Roland Hickman, James Gordon Lintgman, John K. Plane Crashes Into Power Line, Crop-Spraying Pilot Killed

REGINA (CP)—A pilot for the Canadian Aircraft Company of Regina was killed Tuesday when the single-seater aircraft in which he was spraying crops struck a power line and crashed into a field about eight miles northwest of here.

Name of the pilot was withheld pending notification of next-of-kin.

Power to 60 farm homes in the district was disrupted when the plane struck the power line. However, crews of the Saskatchewan Power Corporation later had power restored to all but eight homes.

B.C. YOUTHS CHARGED

SASKATOON (CP) — David Simpson and Frederick Ramsell, both 19, of Vancouver, faced charges of attempted robbery Tuesday as a result of an unsuccessful holdup attempt at a Saskatoon theatre Monday night.

Police said the youths thrust a note into the theatre cashier's wicket demanding money and saying "there's a man standing to one side with a gun." The cashier, Mrs. Ella Gerrand, called the theatre manager and the two boys fled. They were captured minutes later.

GRAIN REPORT

REGINA (CP) — Saskatchewan's wheat acreage has [illegible] 2,000,000 acres from the original intentions, with about 250,000 of this being sown to barley, oats, spring rye and flax and the remaining 1,250,000 acres lying fallow.

The latest report of the provincial agricultural statistics branch released Monday made this preliminary estimate.

Warmer weather last week brought improved growth in Saskatchewan's grain crops, although the average condition of the crops, as shown in the Saskatchewan Wheat Pool index, has dropped slightly from a week ago.

JOHN BURNS DEAD

CALGARY (CP)—John Burns, MBE, 69, president of Burns & Co., Ltd., one of Canada's largest meat-packing firms, died Tuesday at his home here following a lengthy illness.

A nephew of the late Senator Pat Burns, he was born at Kirkfield, Ont.

LEGION OFFICERS

WINNIPEG (CP) — J. H. Stafford of Fort Rouge branch of the Canadian Legion Tuesday was elected president of the Manitoba and Northwestern Ontario command.

Other officers elected at the annual convention are: R. F. T. Greer, Winnipeg, honorary president; A. H. Evans, Port Arthur, first vice-president; Duff Roblin, Winnipeg, second vice-president; C. C. Sparling, Flin Flon, third vice-president; K. R. Buchan, Winnipeg, treasurer; C. C. Hocking, Winnipeg, provincial chairman.

NEW BRIDGE PLAN

EDMONTON (CP) — City commissioners have adopted a plan submitted for a proposed bridge in west Edmonton.

The plan calls for the construction of a 950-foot bridge across the North Saskatchewan River at an estimated cost of $2,482,255.

YOUR DENTAL HEALTH

By L. G. ROBINSON, DDS

Acid Bacteria Can Be Starved

(This is the third of a series of articles prepared by the B.C. Dental Association as a public service. They will appear daily.)

"Hundreds of thousands of living things floating around in my mouth? What do you mean?"

That is a common reaction when people are told of the tiny organisms of the mouth, some of which produce acids leading to the destruction of the teeth.

Most people know about bacteria, but usually think of them as germs that are associated with tuberculosis, pneumonia, diptheria and similar diseases.

There are many thousands of bacteria of different kinds in the normal mouth and elsewhere in the body, performing a valuable duty for the most part. But the kind we are mostly concerned with in these articles is the one with the formidable name of Lactobacillus Acidophilus. Taken apart and interpreted, the name suggests a rod-shaped one that produces a certain kind of acid.

If we follow the advice given by our department of health, we will not feed them things they like. These harmful organisms will then become discouraged and die off, until only a very few are left in the mouth.

DON'T FEED THEM

But if we fed them, many times a day, with highly refined starches and sugars, such as white flour products, pastries, candies, swet drinks and confections of all kinds, they will respond by working at top speed. Deposits of this sort of sweet, paste substances will gather in the deep crevices and hidden spots around the teeth and acids will form which will eat into the enamel.

These few simple suggestions, if followed closely, will help us to avoid much of the distress and discomfort that accompany dental decay:

Eat only at meal times; avoid snacks and confections between meals; brush off deposits of fod immediately after eating and the population of these acid-forming bacteria will quickly dwindle near to the vanishing point through sheer starvation.

Year's Suspended Sentence For Two in Colwood Court

Two men received one-year suspended sentences on different charges by Magistrate A. I. Thomas in RCMP court at Colwood Tuesday afternoon.

Ian Gordon Scott, Victoria, was given the suspended term when he pleaded guilty to a public morals charge. His counsel was Gordon Cameron.

The same suspension was imposed against Jack Start, young Malahat resident, who was found guilty of assaulting and injuring 69-year-old Gilbert Mowatt, Malahat. Scott was ordered to post a $500 bond and Start a $1,000 bond to ensure their good behavior.

TV Blamed for Loss By Toronto Symphony

TORONTO (BUP)—The Toronto Symphony Orchestra Tuesday blamed television for part of its $8,935 deficit at the end of the 1952-53 season.

President W. G. Watson and Conductor Sir Ernest MacMillan both said, however, that orchestras in the United States had run into the same difficulty and found their audiences returning after the initial impact of TV.

Tanker Argus to Have Inspection Friday

VANCOUVER (CP) — The fire-ravaged tanker Argus will undergo inspection Friday to determine if she will sail again.

Capt. Eric Suffield of Union-Waterhouse, the vessel's owners, said Tuesday she was being cleaned out and likely would be freed of gas by today.

Steam is being used to clean her out, and once the engine is finished underwriters and surveyors will go below to report on her seaworthiness.

GOLF HAZARD

LONDON (UP) — Golfer Charles Langley lost an eye Tuesday when the ball he drove from the 10th tee struck a signboard 10 yards away, rebounded and struck him.

Sweden Builds Caves To Shelter Ships, Planes

STOCKHOLM (CP) — Sweden is building 500 giant shelters under her granite cliffs and mountains where her warships and aircraft will be stored and serviced safe from atomic attacks in any future war.

The shelters, costing a total of about 450,000,000 crowns (about $90,000,000), will also accommodate Sweden's defense staffs, chief radar stations and other essential military and civilian services.

More than $40,000,000 worth of these shelters have already been built.

After the first atom bomb fell on Japan, Sweden's military leaders made a secret inventory of all the country's cliffs and mountains strong enough and high enough to serve as "roofs" for underground shelters, proof against atomic attack.

Above ground are runways for aircraft landing for attention or taking off for operations. The aircraft are towed by jeeps through long tunnels to underground workshops.

Alongside the workshops are hangars where aircraft can be stored, safe from atomic and other forms of attack.

The "battle positions" include underground coastal artillery units complete with radar and other devices, placed at strategic points along the route which a sea-borne invasion force would take if it came from the east.

Polish Captain Asks Sanctuary in Britain

LONDON (Reuters) — The master of Communist Poland's crack liner, the Batory, has asked for permission to remain in Britain, a home office spokesman said here Tuesday.

The 14,287-ton Batory, the same ship on which Communist propagandist Gerhardt Eisler escaped from the United States, sailed from Britain without the captain last Saturday.

RUSSIA RETURNS 'SLANDEROUS' UN DOCUMENTS

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (UP)—The United Nations committee on forced labor reported today it received the following communication from Russia:

"The delegation of the U.S.S.R. to the UN presents its compliments to the UN secretariat and herewith returns, unexamined, the documents attached to the secretariat's letter on Nov. 22, 1952, since these documents contain slanderous fabrications concerning the Soviet Union."

Rebuilt Douk Home Razed In Kootenays

NELSON, B.C. (CP) — Terrorists returned Tuesday to the site of a Doukhobor home they destroyed by fire a little more than a week ago.

Destroyed this time was the framework of a new home being built by Jack Poznikoff at Goose Creek, near the Sons of Freedom Doukhobor headquarters at Krestova.

As far as is known, only the one fire occurred Tuesday.

Mercy Flight Fails to Save Life of Hunter

PRINCE GEORGE, B.C. (CP) —A 50-mile mercy flight failed to save the life of a 33-year-old woodsman, Herbert Deckert, after he was accidently shot in a hunting accident at Dewey, about 50 miles east of here.

Deckert was hunting bear with Siegried Bercht, 21. He killed a black bear and handed his rifle to Bercht. A second bear, wounded by the hunters, then charged toward the pair.

Police said that as the two turned to run Bercht tripped and the gun fired accidentally, the bullet striking Deckers in the hip.

Parade, Religious Rites Mark St. Jean Baptiste Day

MONTREAL (BUP)—French Canada went en fete today to honor its patron saint with a 30-float parade and religious rites marking the official start of the Roman Catholic feast of St. Jean Baptiste.

Sunny skies and moderate temperatures plus a provincial holiday were expected to draw some 300,000 persons to the parade route on cross-town Sherbrooke Street as Paul-Emile Cardinal Leger and St. Jean Baptiste Society leaders watched from a special stand.

Msgr. Leger, Canada's newest cardinal, got the annual revival of traditional French ceremonies off to a start at 9.30 a.m. by singing high mass in Notre Dame Church while smoke from a bonfire set Tuesday night in Lafontaine Park still spiralled over Mount Royal.

Montreal Mayor Camillien Houde set a torch to kindling that started the 308th annual "Feu De Saint Jean" to be celebrated in America, and the archbishop blessed it. Hundred-foot flames silhouetted an estimated 100,000 persons who turned out to see the spectacle and a gigantic fireworks display that followed.

Sicily, the Mediterranean island at the toe of Italy, has an area of 10,000 square miles.

CANADA'S NO. 1 RANGE

Acclaimed by researchers, manufacturers, retailers and consumers who formed the National Design Committee, the 1953 Moffat Coronation sets the standard for modern electric ranges. The same features that brought this top award in industrial design to Moffat's will bring undreamed of cooking convenience to you.

Enjoy the super-capacity "King-Size" Oven plus 23 other new Moffat features!

"King-Size" Oven—big enough to bake SIX 9-inch pies at once ... a 35-pound turkey ... or a complete oven-baked meal.

Syncrochime Oven Heat Control—both a light and a chime tell you it's baking time.

Interior Oven Light—no more peering and poking.

Plus 14 other new features that make the new 1953 Moffat ... CANADA'S NO. 1 RANGE.

Only Moffat gives you 11 Models—all with
"KING-SIZE" OVEN

What the "Design Award" Means

All the cooking ranges in the national competition were judged by these standards.

- Styling
- Convenient operation and function
- Originality
- Good value
- Acceptance by the housewife

The Moffat Model 1164-53 passed all tests, and was especially praised for its convenient cooking features, value and acceptability by the housewife.

Canadian Girl Gains British Golf Semis

IT'S MY VIEW

By BILL WALKER, Sports Editor

The trigger is still bent and broken, but few blanks are being fired.

Minus their siege-gun Archie Browning, the Shamrocks tonight enter upon the second-half of their Intercity Lacrosse League schedule with a four-point bulge on the field.

It's a credit to the club and the coach, Red McMillan, that the Irish have maintained their supremacy though at a manpower shortage through recent weeks. The loss of Browning was the worst blow as undoubtedly he is the No. 1 trigger man in the loop. When he pulls the string on his underhand whizz bang, even the goalies start ducking. But Browning has been out for nine games, and yet the Rocks are unbeaten at home, though suffering a few reverses abroad.

Walker

Present indications are that it will be a couple of weeks yet before the blond bomber with the cricket knees returns. He has had a third cast put on his broken hand this week and will be left on the sidelines until the injury is completely healed.

In his absence, the goal scoring load has fallen mostly on Jack Northup's shoulders with Whitey Severson setting up the plays for Larry Booth, another enjoying his best season.

Potential Hidden by Injuries

Another indication of the tremendous potential that the Irish have missed in the past five weeks is the fact that Browning, though having played in only seven games this year, is still among the first 10 scorers in the loop.

However, in his absence McMillan has constantly juggled his forward units and in doing so has realized the most from the other capable material at his disposal.

Still the league race is far from over. Indians are always a threat while Pilseners, with their vast experience, and probably more important in the gruelling grind to come, with their preponderence of weighty individuals of unquestionable stick wielding talent, still appear as the club to beat for the marbles.

Nanaimo Native Sons, who show here tonight, have been coming along slowly but surely, but still shouldn't be classed with the big three. The up-islanders have a strong first unit, but seemingly are lacking in depth.

Results Could Be Interesting

New Westminster Salmonacs have the spirit and may cause a few surprises, but what they need most is players of a proven calibre. This situation the Intercity League commission apparently intends to alleviate through their recent edict in waiving the residence rule. The results of the ruling will be interesting but hardly beneficial to the Shamrocks with whom the residence rule always has been a sore point. Especially now with the Rocks leading the parade down the stretch it seems unlikely that they will be allowed to dig into the grab bag caused by this ruling.

Still, the one overriding fact about the Irish is that in few games this season have they been at full strength. As a result their position at the top of the league table indicates their possible ability to go all the way.

Miss Stewart Registers Easy Victory

PORTHCAWL, Wales (BUP) — Marlene Stewart, the young Canadian star from Fonthill, Ont., reached the semifinals of the British Women's Amateur golf championship today by defeating Elizabeth Price of England, 6 and 4, on the Royal Porthcawl course.

Mary Lena Faulk of Thomasville, Ga., the only United States entry, also reached the semifinals with a 3 and 2 victory over Arlette Jacquet of Belgium, 3 and 2.

Miss Stewart eliminated Miss Price with a great display of power golf. It had been hoped among Britons watching the tournament that Miss Price, who had previously beaten a Canadian and a New Zealander, would give Miss Stewart a good match, but she found the youthful Canadian champion in much too good form.

EARLY LEAD

Miss Stewart started well with a birdie three and a four to win the first two holes, and was 3-up at the 5th as opposed to Miss Price's 38. The English girl won only the fifth hole and could not cope with the brilliant putting of the Canadian, who was three up at the 10th and went on to win the 12th, 13th and 14th for the match.

Miss Jacquet frequently outdrove Miss Faulk nearly 30 yards on each hole, but the slender, loose-limbed American girl played much steadier golf after falling behind twice on the first five holes.

MISS DAVIES BEATEN

On Tuesday Barbara M. Davies, Vancouver, went down before England's Elizabeth Price at the 19th hole in a fourth-round match after defeating Mrs. Brock Park of Bermuda, 4 and 2, in the third round.

Ada Mackenzie, the Canadian captain from Toronto, went down before Mrs. J. Fallon of Ireland, 2 and 1, after defeating Jeanne Bisgood of England 4 and 3 earlier.

Daintry Chisholm, Montreal, was beaten by Lena Faulk of the United States, 5 and 3, in the fourth round after surviving a third-round match, 3 and 2, against Amy Mellor of North Wales.

Mary Gay of Waterloo, Ont., was defeated in a third-round match with Jean Donald of Scotland, 5 and 4.

Two other members of the Canadian team, Mrs. Graeme Pyke of Hudson Heights, Que., and Margaret Todd of Victoria were eliminated in earlier play.

James Bay Scores 12th Straight Win

Pitcher Bob Tomlinson struck out 10 batters to stop Esquimalt on four hits in juvenile baseball at Macdonald Park Tuesday night. It was Tomlinson's eighth straight for James Bay, who haven't lost in 12 starts.

The flashy pitcher knocked out a bases-loaded home run and rapped out a pair of singles to help his cause. Doug Patterson and Gerry Gladson each had two hits in three trips for Bays.

Moore 8-5 Choice

OGDEN, Utah (AP)—Joey Maxim steps into the ring tonight confident he will pull an upset and win back the world light heavyweight championship he lost to Archie Moore last December.

The odds favor the 36-year-old Moore 8 to 5 for the schedule 15 round rematch between the two fighters.

The critics generally picked ancient Archie to duplicate the victory he scored seven months ago in St. Louis, his native city, where he fought his first professional fight 16 years ago.

The camps of both fighters showed no concern prior to the weigh-in at noon about making the 175-pound limit.

But it was the weight problem, not a well-balanced boxing machine named Moore, that whipped Joey the last time. Or so claimed Jack Kearns, Maxim's prominent pilot.

"This time Maxim didn't have to shed 40 pounds to get down to 175, like he did at St. Louis," Kearns said. "He has been training easily for weeks and trimming down from about 187 didn't weaken him."

Moore aproached the fight seemingly as confident and calm as Maxim. He has much less weight problem than Joey.

The temperature may be up over 85 in Ogden's open air Municipal Stadium when the two climb into the ring around 10 p.m. EDT.

Helping With Solarium Derby

This is Dave Donaldson, 2537 Vancouver Street. Dave, a veteran policeman, is doing his bit to make The Times-Anglers' benefit salmon derby for the Queen Alexandra Solarium July 26 in Saanich Inlet the biggest dollar-winner since these one-day classics were started six years ago by the VSIAA. "Always have liked to pitch in and help where crippled kids are concerned," he commented. Victoria born and educated, Dave has been on the city police force 23 years. He's been a detective 16 years and is known at the cop shop as the "identification officer." He is one of the original members of the 21-year-old angling clan club. Dave always has been a strong Solarium booster. Owner of a cruiser, he has fished the inlet for many years and recalls 25 years ago when fishing was really tops there. Folks, how about helping Dave and the boys out by buying a $1 derby ticket.

Salem Ties Lewiston for Lead; Caps, Esks Close

Edmonton 7, Victoria 5

If the four top teams in the Western International Baseball League get bunched much closer they're going to have to pry them apart at the end of the first half to see which one is on top.

From first place to fourth place there's but a game and a half margin with four teams—Lewiston, Salem, Vancouver and Edmonton—all in contention and ready to roll. The first half of the WIL split season ends July 2.

Tuesday night the Yakima Bears engineered the biggest squeeze since colored margarine came in as they toppled the Lewiston Broncs 6-4 to leave Lewiston and rained-out Salem tied atop the league ladder with identical records.

Yakima fashioned its victory with a four-run outburst in the eighth. Len Noren's single chased home one run in that frame and Herman Lewis rocketed a triple to deep left-centrefield with two on to chase home two more counters. Lewis crossed when the Bronco centrefield uncorked a wild throw trying to nip him at third.

CAN'T HOLD LEAD

Edmonton moved into serious contention with a 7-5 triumph over Victoria Tyees at Edmonton. The Eskimos were down 5-1 before they started moving but iced four runs in the fifth and added two more markers in the sixth to take the marbles.

Bill Prior was the loser for the Tyees though delivering a bases loaded triple in the fourth inning which helped the Tyees to their 5-1 lead.

THREAT HALTED

Leon Day was shelled from the mound for the Esks and replaced by Don Tisnerat, who needed help from John Conant in the ninth.

Tyees threatened in the final frame when Chuck Abernathy singled. But when Tisnerat threw three straight balls to Dwane Helbig, Conant was called upon to halt the uprising, which he did. He struck out Helbig and forced Milt Martin to hit into a double play.

Tri-City and Wenatchee got together at Wenatchee with neither team concerned about first place. Wenatchee came through with a five-run rally in the fourth and went on to take the Braves 6-1.

Shamrocks Again Hit By Injuries

Injuries have again struck Victoria Shamrocks of the Intercity Lacrosse League.

Rocks, unable to floor a club at full strength since their third contest of the season, will be three regulars short when they take the floor tonight at Memorial Arena at 8.30.

Coach Red McMillan will be without the services of Bob Monaghan and Harry Irwin tonight due to injuries suffered at Nanaimo last Saturday. Monaghan has an injured back and Irwin is suffering from a leg ailment.

Archie Browning is still out with a broken hand and is not expected to rejoin the club for another two weeks.

Norm Coates and Art Green will fill in for the injured forwards and will work on a line with Duff McCaghey. Green will be making his first Shamrock appearance in some time.

Camosun Club Tennis Draw

Eric Bateman advanced in the men's singles of the annual Camosun Tennis Club championships Tuesday night. He defeated Greg Harvey, 7-5, 6-4. In women's singles Nora Finlayson downed Doreen Garnet, 6-1, 6-1.

Betty Pidcock and Joan Drew defeated Leah Halsall and Cathie Goldie, 6-1, 6-0, in women's doubles play.

Today's draw follows:

6.30 p.m.—H. Fickel vs. Sid Grant; Lorna Langley vs. Marg Schmidt; J. Bowes vs. B. Mahon.

7.15 p.m.—Betty Pidcock vs. Alphie Carnes; Toad Garnet and Sid Gaunt vs. Les Stilling and Eric Bateman; Lorna Langley and Will Borwne-Cave vs. Jean Grant and Andy Anderson.

8.00 p.m.—Andy Anderson vs. Toad Garnet; G. Wallace and Vic Drew vs. Greg Harvey and Will Browne-Cave; Leah Halsall and J. Bowes vs. Cathie Goldie and B. Mahon.

PILS WHIP SALMONACS

Preston Good, But Can't Do It Alone

VANCOUVER (CP)—Vancouver Pilseners climbed to within a point of second place in the Intercity Lacrosse League Tuesday night, defeating the last-place New Westminster Salmonacs 14-9.

The game was close until the 10-minute mark of the last quarter when Pilseners rattled three quick goals past Salmonacs' goalie Harry Preston. Up to that point, Preston had been tremendous. Over the route, he stopped 41 shots, 14 in the first and 15 in the finale to keep Salmonacs in contention.

Jack Green had very little work in the Pilseners' net. New Westminster had only 24 shots on goal as compared to Vancouver's 55. Pilseners took a 3-2 lead in the first quarter but it could have been 6-2 but for Preston who stopped 14 of 17 shots.

It was 5-4 at the half for the winners and 8-6 at the three-quarter mark. Salmonacs, checking up the floor, rallied to within one goal of Pilseners at the seven-minute mark of the fourth quarter. Ernie Bradford scored to make the count 10-9 with seven minutes remaining.

The teams played on even terms the next two minutes but Pilseners broke through for quick goals by Bob Marsh, Dave Redline and Bill Stuart.

Merchants In Upset Softball Win

Third-place Sidney Merchants rose to the occasion Tuesday night and upset Copley Bros., 6-2, in a Senior Women's Softball League contest at Lower Central Park.

Loss dropped Copleys to second place, one-half game back of Individuals. Individuals have a chance to extend their lead tonight when they meet Sidney at Lower Central Park at 6.30.

Jocelyn Richmond hurled steady ball for the winners and gave up only five hits. Copley Bros. committed five errors in the field which led to their downfall.

Seixas Advances In Wimbledon Net Meet

WIMBEDON, Eng. (UP)—Vic Seixas of Philadelphia, the United States' leading hope for the Wimbledon men's singles tennis championship, reached the third round today with a 6-2, 6-2, 7-5 victory over Vladislave Skowecki, a self-exiled Pole.

It was the second consecutive straight-sets triumph for 29-year-old Seixas, who is America's second-ranked amateur player.

Two other Americans were eliminated among the third day's early finishers, however. Bernard Bartzen of San Angelo, Tex., was beaten by fourth-ranked Jarolsalv Drobny of Egypt, 6-4, 6-3, 6-3; and Grant Golden of Wilmette, Ill., lost to Sven Davidsson, Swedish Davis cupper, 6-3, 6-4, 6-4.

A third American was beaten in the second round of men's singles when John (Bud) Ager of Black Mountain, N.C., lost to Staffan Stockenberg of Sweden, 7-5, 8-6, 6-4.

Top-seeded Ken Rosewall of Australia, the tournament favorite, was extended to four sets in defeating Robert Abdesselam of France, 6-3, 6-1, 4-6, 6-2.

A crowd of more than 20,000 fans jammed the famed All-England club to watch the matches in hot, humid weather.

Julie Sampson of San Marino, Calif., became the third U.S. woman to reach the third round when she easily disposed of Lucille Van Der Westhuizen of South Africa, 6-1, 6-3.

First-seeded Maureen Connolly of San Diego, Calif., and second-seeded Doris Hart of Coral Gambles, Fla., who drew first-round byes, gained the third round Tuesday.

City Golfers To Appear in Alberni Meet

Several Victorians will travel to Port Alberni for the annual West Coast open golf tournament at Cherry Creek course this week-end. Over 60 entries are expected. The draw will be made up Thursday but post entries will be accepted.

Men's play will be 27 holes on Sunday for the Russell Turner Memorial Trophy. There will be other prizes for low gross and low net. The ladies will play for the Woodward Trophy (low gross) and the Spooner Trophy (low net) and other prizes.

Bob Fleming, city and B.C. amateur champ; Hugh Morrison, John Merriman and Porky Andrews of Victoria are all scheduled to appear.

W. C. Brown Named To Sportsmen's Post

President Lee Hallberg of the newly formed Amalgamated Lower Island Sportsmen's Association reports that W. C. Brown of the Esquimalt and District Salmon Club will take on the job of secretary-treasurer of the new outdoor group.

He will take over soon from pro-tem secretary George Douglas. Douglas is also secretary of the Victoria-Saanich Inlet Anglers' Association.

Cowichan Club Plans Holiday Golf Tourney

Gyros Whip Rotary, Threaten Loop Leaders

Taking an early lead and backed by the four-hit performance of hurler Roger Searson, Gyros took another step back up the Little League baseball ladder at Little League Park Wednesday night by downing Rotary, 8-4.

Win left Gyros, one-time leaders of the loop, one-half game behind second-place Rotary and only one complete game behind front-running North Kiwanis.

Searson pitched a good game although he walked seven. He was given staunch support by a sharp infield. He struck out two and had six assists.

Gyros notched 10 safeties off the offerings of starter Don Collier, who went the distance for the losers. Bud Taylor had two doubles while Jim Galbraith and Doug Skinner each had one two-base hit.

Odd Fellows will be out to take over first place tonight when they meet league-leading North Kiwanis at Little League Park at 6.30.

North Kiwanis, after getting away to a slow start, have swept six of their last seven contests and a win tonight would give them a substantial lead.

Linescore follows:

Cartage Nine Suffers Eighth Straight Loss

Central Cartage continued to be the fall team of the Senior Amateur Baseball League at Royal Athletic Park Tuesday night as Eagles completely humiliated the winless, last-place club, 14-0.

Win was Eagles' fourth against three losses and considerably strengthened the club's second-place standing in the circuit. Defeat for Central Cartage was the eighth straight loss for the tailenders.

Righthander Ray Ramsay went the distance for the winners and allowed only three base hits while striking out eight and walking two to gain his first victory of the season. Workhorse Andy George, who was relieved in the fifth by Charlie Constable, suffered his fourth setback against no wins.

Eagles took a one-run lead in the first inning and from then on scored in every frame except the third and sixth, counting five in the fourth.

Paced by first-baseman Stan Christenson with four singles in five trips, Eagle batters pounded the two Cartage hurlers for a total of 18 safeties. Stan Cornwall with four for six and Ron Karadimas with four for five were other top stickers.

Line score follows:

Wrestling Complaints News to Williamson

Wrestling promoter Ken Williamson said today he has never heard of or received complaints from any wresting commission after city Alderman Frank Mulliner raised the question Monday at an executive meeting of the City Council.

Chairman Mulliner said he deplored the spectator interference at local wrestling matches. He termed it a "ghastly affair."

A city by-law of March, 1952, calls for a three-man commission to regulate professional boxing and wrestling in the city.

"I haven't had any complaints," promoter Williamson said.

Mulliner, however, said he thought it was time to put the law into effect.

Members of the council have been asked to study the by-law further before action is taken. No commission has ever been appointed under the terms of the law.

Copley's Score Win

Copley Bros., of the Colwood and District Juvenile Girls' League, downed Brentwood, 16-11, in a league contest at Saanichton Agricultural Hall grounds Tuesday night.

Copleys have scheduled an exhibition game with Elk Lake at Elk Lake grounds Friday night at 7.

PANTIES WITH GOLD LACE YET!

Gussie Has a Rival

WIMBLEDON (AP) — Mrs. Maria Weiss, in sudan cotton panties trimmed with gold lace, swept the British player Laure Morgan out of the Wimbledon tennis championships Tuesday and brought back memories of "gorgeous Gussie Moran."

She defeated the British girl, 6-1, 6-2.

Tennis-wise it was a fair game. Fashion-wise it was a knock-out. Eyes almost popped as the little stunner from the Argentine leaped, twisted and turned. They wanted to see their money's worth of gold lace.

Tuesday spectators, photographers and Wimbledon dress designer Teddy Tinling lined up patiently in the broiling sun.

The word had leaked out the Argentine widow, a friend of President Juan Peron, would show up in something sensational. "She's coming," shouted an excited youngster. Necks fashionably swathed in chiffon scarves and roped pearls craned. Photographers lined up.

Lightly, Mrs. Weiss came down the little lane between courts. She was bronzed and laughing. Expertly she posed for photographers.

"Oh's" and "ah's" went up from the spectators as she bent to pick up her racquet, exposing a wide expanse of panty lavishly edged with gold lace.

Wimbledon's ruling is that the basic color of costumes must be white but extras, such as lace-gold, blue or pink-colored braid, even painted pictures or initials on shorts or panties are allowed.

The brunette charmer in gold lace fascinated the ball boys. Almost dumbfounded they watched while spare balls piled up at the other end of the court. The umpire had to reprimand them but Maria, a young lady of near 30, merely flashed her dazzling smile.

Mrs. Yardley Tops 'Throw-Out' Tourney

Did you ever want to throw out a few bad holes on your golf score sheet? That's just what they did at Victoria Golf Club Tuesday in a ladies' "throw-out" competition. Three holes were not scored.

Mrs. W. H. Yardley, Colwood, won the visitors' competition with a low net of 50. Mrs. G. A. R. Stelck was second with 55. Mrs. A. C. Pidgeon won the competition for members with a 53, while Mrs. J. D. Munro was next with a 54.

Furmston's Return Boon to Butlers

Butler's Aces 2, Students 1

John Furmiston returned to Butler Bros.' Aces Tuesday night and the sparkplug of the suburbanites threw a masteful five-hitter at Chinese Students to set them down 2-1 in a thriller at Central Park.

By losing Students lost a chance to move into a tie for first place in the Senior A Men's Softball League, and it also cut their margin over the third-place Aces to three points. It was their fourth straight loss.

The game was tight through the nine innings as Furmston, who had been out with an injury, and Bud Ross were in complete control.

Actually Bud Ross of the Students pitched a better game over the first seven innings. He had a one-hit shutout going and had retired 14 batters in a row until Herb Bate was safe when Don Robinson at short failed to come up with a hard hit ball that went through his legs.

Archie Sluggett almost got himself a pitcher with a scorcher through the box and Bate advanced to third. He paused momentarily while centre-fielder Tom Derr ran the ball back to the infield, and then broke for home and beat the throw from Derr.

That run tied the game at 1-1 and set the stage for a tense finish in the bottom of the ninth.

STRATEGY BACKFIRES

Frank Kilshaw opened the inning with a long triple to right centre, and Students' coach Gar Taylor, playing the percentages, walked Furmston and Bate intentionally to load the bases and put the force on at home.

Willie Benn grounded to short and Kilshaw was forced at the plate, but Sluggett got a life when his bloop single just dropped in safe down the left-field line, Phil Benn, running for Furmston, crossing home plate when the ball skidded into the crowd.

Don Robinson, with two for three, and Frank Kilshaw, with two for four, including his big triple, led the hitters. Furmston struck out four and walked two. Ross whiffed two and walked four (two intentionally).

Thursday night at Central Park Aces will meet Navy. A win for the former will put the top three teams within three points of each other. Game time is 6.45.

Short score follows:

Cards Latest Threat In Torrid NL Race

WILLIAMS TO OFFICIATE AT STADIUM BEGINNING

VANCOUVER (BUP)—Former Canadian Olympic track ace Percy Williams was to turn the first spadeful of earth at the British Empire Games stadium sod-turning ceremony today.

The official act will highlight the most ambitious program Vancouver's Empire Games officials have attempted to date, as construction gets under way on the home of next year's Commonwealth sports event.

Athletes in track regalia will parade past the official stand, led by the police pipe band. Vancouver's Acting Mayor R. K. Gervin will call on the athletes to start the sod-turning following a brief speech by K. S. "Sandy" Duncan, British Empire Games honorary secretary from London.

Musial's Big Bat Booms Again

It finally got hot enough in St. Louis for the Cardinals to catch fire and the word was out to the rest of the National League today to start looking for an extinguisher.

The Cards, last NL club to win a world series, have taken seven out of eight games since coming home a week ago.

They roared through Brooklyn three straight, added three out of four from Pittsburgh and Tuesday night welcomed New York Giants with a seven-run barrage in the first inning that carried them to a 15-8 triumph.

One of the happiest things from a St. Louis viewpoint about the winning splurge has been the heavy hitting of Stan Musial.

Hampered all spring by a severe slump, Musial finally seems to have found his eye. He's blasted five doubles, a home run and seven singles in 30 times at bat for a .433 pace on the home stand. His overall average has risen from .251 to .274.

"He looks like he's ready to roll from here on in," said manager Eddie Stanky.

The heavy hitting Tuesday night allowed Harvey Haddix to go all the way for his ninth victory, even though the Giants got to him for 11 hits and eight runs.

The Cards moved within half a game of the slumping second-place Brooklyn Dodgers who lost 3-2 to Cincinnati on Grady Hatton's pinch-hit home run, and within 3½ games of league-leading Milwaukee.

The Braves got a beautiful two-hit pitching job from Warren Spahn but lost 1-0 to the last-place Pittsburgh Pirates. Robin Roberts won his 12th game as he pitched Philadelphia Phillies to a 6-1 decision over Chicago.

In the American League the first-place New York Yankees increased their lead over Cleveland to 11 games although they lost 11-3 to Chicago.

Cleveland dropped a day-night pair in Boston, 6-4 and 2-1. The night game ran 10 innings before Milt Bolling doubled home the winning run.

Fishing Reaches Peak In Ladder Derby Test

Nine more salmon were checked in to catch a spot on the third weekly ladder of the Victoria-Saanich Inlet Anglers' Association ladder derby competition Tuesday.

The third ladder concluded Tuesday night. Official results will be released Thursday.

Entrants who place on one of the weekly ladders qualify for the final fish-off August 23 for more than $3,500 worth of prizes, top of which is an 18-foot Ozarka cabin cruiser.

This week's smallest qualifying fish, 9¾ pounds, is a derby record and indicates the good fishing. So far this derby the VSIAA has issued 18 bronze and two silver buttons.

Top angler to weigh in a ladder entrant Tuesday was D. H. West with a 25-pounder. G. J. Miners reeled in a bronze button winner of 22¾ pounds.

Fishing hit its peak Tuesday with five limit catches recorded, none by derby qualifiers. Mrs. Sophie Heglin took top spot in this department with five up to 21¾ pounds, but she qualified on the second ladder. Poon Wong, another second week qualifier, had five up to 16¾ pounds while Don Gunn and Fred Curl, with limits up to 12 pounds, had placed on the first ladder.

Two other anglers already qualified, Fred Tull and Cliff Margetish, caught 19½ and 15½ pounders.

The Mac's Squid plug is highly recommended.

Fishing Meeting

Esquimalt and District Salmon Fishing Club will hold a meeting Friday night at 8 in the Esquimalt Municipal Hall to discuss plans for this year's program of activities. All members are urged to attend.

Fosters Trip Esquimalt

Joe Foster's senior "B" softball team moved a notch closer to the league-leading Tillicums Tuesday night by downing Esquimalt Athletics 11-4 at Heywood Avenue.

Fosters put together four timely hits and 11 walks for their 11 runs.

Norm Dickie broke up a 1-1 tie in the bottom of the second with a two-run homer. A five-run outburst in the fourth climaxed by Bob Adams' home-run put them in front 9-3.

Bob Lyons was the winning pitcher and allowed only three hits. Cy Henderson took the loss.

ED MATTHEWS BETTER AT THE PLATE

Bobby Soxers' Delight

MILWAUKEE (AP)—Eddie Mathews is considered a worth-while catch by the gals here and in other spots around the National League.

It's not hard to understand. Young Mathews, in addition to being the Milwaukee Braves' third baseman and the major league's home run leader, is a curly-haired lad with a rosy complexion. He's a strapping boy, too, and he's only 21.

"You've been successful in catching and holding a baseball husband," a 17-year-old girl wrote recently to the wife of one of the older Braves' players. "If it isn't too much trouble, would you mind writing me and telling me how I would go about getting Eddie Mathews?"

The young lady wasn't kidding. Neither are the hundreds of others who hang around outside the clubhouse at County Stadium waiting for him to come out following a game. It's the same all over the league.

Eddie isn't at his best in these encounters. He ducks his head in embarrassment, mumbles a few words, signs a few autographs and escapes as fast as he can. He hasn't dated in Milwaukee yet, but the word is that in Boston a year ago he went out occasionally with a feminine companion.

"I'm not shy," Mathews protests, "but I'm not forward, either."

His teammates give the kid a bad time. The other night the "Eddie Mathews Fan Club," made up of young women, came down to the dugout before the game and presented Eddie with a portable radio. Fellow players lolling inside had him blushing most of the time—he blushes easily—with wise-cracks about his sex appeal.

Mangrum, Forgotten Man of Golf, Figures to Give Hogan a Battle

NEW YORK (AP)—Lloyd Mangrum talks the same way he plays golf—straight from the shoulder, no hedging.

Biding his time here until he leaves Friday for the British Open in Carnoustie, the phlegmatic little pro said:

"It ought to be between me and Ben."

Ben, of course, is Ben Hogan, the four-time United States open champion, who arrived in Carnoustie Tuesday for two weeks' practice over the historic seaside course. The tournament opens July 6.

In their excitement over Hogan's first try at the British title, most golf fans seem to have forgotten the other cold, steel-eyed Texan who for years has been one of the United States' foremost tournament pros.

Everybody has forgotten, that is, except Mangrum.

"If I didn't think I could win it, I wouldn't be making the trip," he said.

Then he added wryly:

"Of course, you know, I've reached the point where money doesn't matter any more. I'm just in this game to make friends."

The lithe one-time Houston caddy also will be making his first bid for the British Open.

But he has had more experience than Hogan, both with Britain's feared seaside courses and the smaller British ball. He's afraid of neither.

"I've played on their courses over there, although not at Carnoustie," he said. "Their courses are no different than ours, some good, some bad.

"But hit the ball right on any of them, and you'll score okay. As for the smaller ball, well, we adopted the larger ball over here to make play tougher.

"You can drive the smaller ball farther and it stands to reason it'll be easier in putting. Smaller ball, same size hole."

He played at Canton, England, with the U.S. Ryder Cup team in 1949, scoring the victory over Fred Daly which gave the U.S. a 7 to 5 victory. Last fall he toured Australia, winning a series of tournaments with the smaller British ball.

Mangrum won the National Open at Canterbury in 1946, finishing in a violent thunder storm. In 1950 he tied Hogan for the title at Merion in Philadelphia only to lose in a playoff when he picked up his ball and inadvertently blew off a bug, costing him two strokes.

"I'll watch out for bugs at Carnoustie," Mangrum said.

Boxla Prelim

Two pee-wee all-star lacrosse teams will play the preliminary to the Shamrock-Nanaimo Native Sons game tonight at Memorial Arena. Game time is 7 and players are asked to be on hand at 6.30. Team line-ups follow:

U.S. Living Costs Soar To New High

WASHINGTON (UP) — The U.S. cost of living climbed for the third straight month in May to a new 1953 high.

The bureau of labor statistics said its consumers' price index on May 15 stood at 114 per cent of 1947-49 prices. This was just three-tenths of one per cent below the all-time record set last November, and an advance of three-tenths of one per cent over the mid-April figure.

Higher prices for food and medical care caused most of the increase.

Petrillo Re-Elected Head of Musicians

MONTREAL (BUP) — James C. Petrillo began his 14th consecutive term as president of the AFL American Federation of Musicians today as the union rushed to wind up it 56th and biggest annual convention by Thursday.

Petrillo and all other members of the union's international executive were nominated Tuesday without opposition for re-election. Voting by the 1,145 delegates was scheduled for today but a union spokesman said that was only a formality.

Second Solarium Term For President Mayhew

Sketch Plans for New Hospital Near Completion, Directors' Meeting Told

R. Logan Mayhew was re-elected president of the board of directors of Queen Alexandra Solarium at a board meeting Tuesday.

A. J. Watson, OBE, was elected vice-president and chairman; H. W. G. Henderson, treasurer; J. R. L. Burridge, chairman of buildings and grounds. On the committee are Justin V. Harbord, Robert Cheyne and David Angus. William Gilmour was elected to the board of directors.

The meeting learned that sketch plans for the new Queen Alexandra Solarium for Crippled Children are near completion. Soil and topographical surveys have been made.

Features of other hospitals are being studied so that the most important of these can be incorporated wherever possible in the new Solarium.

J. S. Holdstock, administrator, reported that nine patients had been discharged during the past month and seven patients were awaiting admission. Of 47 patients under treatment, 19 are from Vancouver Island, he said.

Owing to the high incidence of communicable disease at present the annual garden party at the Solarium will not be held this year.

Eden May Go To Bermuda

LONDON (AP)—Foreign Secretary Eden may spend part of his convalescence in Bermuda during the period of the Eisenhower-Churchill meeting, informed sources reported Tuesday.

The final word about this will rest with Eden's doctors, the informants said.

NOT THE TYPE

HOLLYWOOD (UP)—When a casting director rejected actor William Fawcett for the part of a college professor because "you're just not the professor type" Fawcett said he was so disheartened he felt like returning to his old job as professor in charge of dramatics at Michigan State College.

Coronation Fleet to Get Mail Today

Avenger Will Land On Carrier's Deck

ABOARD THE AIRCRAFT CARRIER MAGNIFICENT (BUP)—A Royal Canadian Navy Avenger was scheduled to take off from HMCS Shearwater today to fly 16 bags of first class and registered mail to the returning Canadian Coronation naval squadron.

The plane will land on the flight deck of the aircraft carrier Magnificent if weather is favorable and the crew will receive their mail before they sight Halifax.

Accompanying the Canadian squadron is the Australian carrier Sydney, which will pay a five-day courtesy visit to Halifax. All ships in the group are returning from the Spithead review.

The ships are expected to assemble at Sambro lightship off Halifax and to berth in the naval dockyard Thursday afternoon.

The Magnificent refueled the destroyer Sioux at sea Tuesday. Both then increased speed to 20 knots in order to reach Halifax on time.

Famed Mt. Everest Guide Favors Name of Tenzing

KATMANDU, Nepal (CP)—The native guide who climbed Mount Everest has been know variously as Tensing Bhutia, Sherpa Tensing and Tensing Norkay or Norkey in different combinations.

He said Tuesday he prefers to be known as Tenzing.

He explained the affixes to his name as follows: His Tibetan ancestors were members of the Bhutia race. He was born in Nepal near the Tibetan border, where the people are known as Norkey. He has lived in India for many years. Sherpa is a caste of guides and porters in the Himalayas.

He put it this way:

"A few call me Bhutia Tenzing. Others call me Sherpa Tenzing or Tenzing Norkey. But I prefer being called simply Tenzing with none of the racial, communal or caste distinctions."

Traveler in Stratford-on-Avon Hears Victoria Most Beautiful

In London as a Coronation guest, Bernice Perfect is seeing other of Britain's showplaces, has been to Paris. In this, the Victoria High School student's fifth letter to the Times, she tells of her continuing adventures.

By BERNICE PERFECT

We spent today at Cambridge, were welcomed by the mayor at the Guildhall, where we later had tea.

After lunch we made up groups and toured the colleges. We walked down the shaded path at Trinity College, of which Tennyson writes in "In Memoriam." St. John's College, I think, was one of the most beautiful. But the whole place has an atmosphere of antiquity, peace and seclusion.

Perfect

FRIDAY, JUNE 5

We watched the changing of the guard from the forecourt of Buckingham Palace. This was an occasion for us, for the Canadians were taking over the duties of the guard. All veterans, we were proud of them.

At Hampton Court we had lunch in the Tilt Yard Gardens Restaurant. We wandered through the famous Maze. And we strolled through Kew Gardens, in glorious bloom. The rhododendrons are as big as trees.

Dinner was with the Royal Empire Society and afterwards we saw "The Young Elizabeth" at the Criterion Theatre.

SUNDAY, JUNE 7

At Knightsbridge we visited Harrod's enormous store, where our blazers were made. I've never seen anything approaching it in size. We lunched there.

In the evening at camp, Hector Bolitho lectured to us on "England and Ourselves." He offered us a prize, his own latest book, for the best essay on this journey. So we are hard at work on our diaries.

SATURDAY, JUNE 7

We had a free morning, then went to Westminster Abbey for the Service of Commonwealth Youth, with the Archbishop of Canterbury officiating. The Queen's place in the Commonwealth was the theme of the sermon, and we felt it was addressed especially to us.

The Abbey was hung with blue satin, brocaded emblems on the walls. Rose, thistle, shamrock and leek grew profusely from one stem. The chairs were royal blue velvet. The gold carpet and six steps leading up to the dais set off the red royal chair. And at the far end of the Abbey was Edward's chair, set upon the Stone of Scone.

MONDAY, JUNE 8

TUESDAY, JUNE 9

By Underground, we went to the Tower of London, saw the Crown jewels. Most significant of the gems was in the Sceptre, a heart-shaped 530-carat diamond, the largest in the world. The Imperial State Crown had a sapphire the size of a bantam's egg.

We went into the White Tower, oldest of them all. In Norman days it was a state prison, and in medieval times a place of torture. Now it's a museum. We saw General Wolfe's cloak, which he wore when he was killed on the Plains of Abraham.

After lunch we toured the vast London docks by launch. And in the evening we went to the theatre, starring Anna Neagle, whom we met.

WEDNESDAY, JUNE 10

We left for Stratford-on-Avon at 8.30 a.m. On the way we saw Blenheim Palace, where Queen Elizabeth stayed last week.

I met some American tourists who had been in Victoria last summer. They said it was the most beautiful city they had ever seen.

We lunched at Memorial Theatre Restaurant and at 2.30 saw "The Taming of the Shrew." The governors of the Shakespearian theatre took us to tea. South African dancers performed for us in the Bancroft Gardens. They were so graceful!

THURSDAY, JUNE 11

Today we watched the trooping of the color. We had seats opposite Buckingham Palace, with an excellent view of the procession in both directions and for the march past at the conclusion. In the afternoon we visited the Houses of Parliament.

In the evening we saw the new opera, "Gloriana," at the Royal Opera House, Convent Garden. It is on the Coronation theme.

And I got my ticket for Paris.

Put an end to Greatest Cause of Engine Power Loss!

If your car lags on hills it used to climb in high . . . chances are the trouble is in the combustion chamber. To overcome power-wasting and fuel-wasting caused by deposits on spark plugs and in combustion chambers—Shell Research discovered and developed a gasoline additive—TCP. Blended into Shell Premium Gasoline, TCP prevents these deposits from causing misfiring of the spark plugs and pre-ignition of the fuel mixture.

If you have a new car, Shell Premium with TCP keeps your engine working like new . . . and even if your car has gone 30,000 miles or more, your engine can get back much of its original power.

Danish Party Opposes Allied Air Bases

COPENHAGEN, Denmark (UP)—Plans to establish North Atlantic Treaty Organization air bases in Denmark were torpedoed Tuesday by the Social Democratic party.

Hams Hedtoft, party chairman, announced his group will oppose an Allied request to station air force personnel in this country, at the highly strategic entrance to the Baltic Sea.

Without the support of the Social Democrats, approval of the request by parliament would be impossible.

Higher Income Exemptions Advocated by Bennett

WINNIPEG (CP) — Premier W. A. C. Bennett of British Columbia Tuesday advocated exemptions in personal income tax of $2,000 for single men and $3,000 for married men with an additional $7.50 for each child.

Interviewed on his way to a Social Credit party conference at Toronto June 25 and 26, Mr. Bennett said the purchasing power of Canadians must be increased if increasing production is to be used up.

The best way to increase purchasing power is by raising income tax exemptions, thereby boosting take-home pay without increasing cost of production, he said.

He also suggested an extended highway policy with federal and provincial governments co-operating and said he would like to see Canada's dollar priced under the American to expedite exports.

Use of microfilm for preserving records in a small space was developed by Rene Dagron, French chemist, in 1870.

STOCK SUMMARIES

Good Gains At Toronto

TORONTO (CP)—Base metals led prices forward toward the close of stock market trading today.

Industrials were up 1¼ index points. Base metals moved on a broad front to gain 1¼ points, while golds were slightly higher. Western oils lost much of their early steam but were still ahead a quarter of an index point.

Falconbridge, Smelters, International Nickel and Noranda led base metals up.

Utilities, papers, steels, liquors and miscellaneous industrials were firm in industrials. Foods, banks and constructions eased.

Western oils gained as Federated Petroleum, Home Oil, Anglo-Canadian and Del Rio added between 10 and 25 cents.

Vancouver List Shows Strength

Oils and mines moved up this forenoon as Vancouver stock exchange transactions reflected the stronger tone in eastern markets.

At noon Dorreen was 23 bid 25 asked; National Exploration 54-57, Beaver Lodge 1.10-1.14, York 41-42, Del Rio 2.10 bid, Charter 1.52-1.55, Pacific Nickel 88-92.

Montreal Prices Move Upwards

All major groups, with the exception of banks, which were unchanged, moved forward.

Korea Uncertainty Dulls London Trade

LONDON (Reuters)—Korean uncertainties made for idle conditions on the London stock exchange today though several groups were firm.

Government securities rose but industrials remained quiet with price changes in a narrow range. The rayon-textile group, however, was slightly higher.

Oils looked firm with the leading issues generally moving up.

Mining shares were quiet. Reports of labor shortage at the mines created uncertainty in Kaffirs. Diamonds were quietly firm and coppers held steady.

Closing prices: Babcock & Wilcox 62s 7½d, Boots Pure Drug 20s 1½d, Canadian Pacific $47½, Central Mining £1 13/32, Consolidated Goldfields 45s 6d, Courtaulds 39s, Hudson's Bay Co. 91s 10½d, Imperial Chemical 43s 10½d, Imperial Tobacco 52s 3d, Metal Box 56s 3d, Mexican Eagle 21s 4½d, Rand Mines 70s.

Bonds: British 2½s Consols £60 7/16, British 2½s War Loans £59 15/16, British Funding 4s 1960-1990 £99 13/16.

Financial Times index of stocks: 217.2, up 0.2.

New York List Mostly Lower

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market was generally lower today, with a few issues under special pressure.

Lower groups included rails, oils, televisions, electrical equipments and aircrafts. Utilities and farm machineries were a little higher.

International Nickel led the Canadian stocks on the upside today, up ⅜. Also higher were Distillers Seagram, ahead ¼ and Dome Mines, up ⅛. Canadian Pacific and McIntyre each fell ¼.

Canadian issues on the American stock exchange were lower. Royalite Oil lost ¼, Giant Yellowknife eased ⅛ and Lake Shore gained ¼.

BUSINESS CAPSULE

Only 5 Small Contracts Come to B.C. Companies

Only five British Columbia firms—none from Victoria or Vancouver Island—appear on the latest list of national defense contracts awarded.

Covering the period May 15 to 31 the list contains $8,505,960 worth of contracts for $10,000 or more awarded to Canadian firms by department of defense production and by the Crown company, Defense Construction (1951) Ltd.

Largest contracts went to Imperial Oil Ltd. for petroleum products for the three armed services. The contract's total is $1,787,581.

Two of the B.C. contracts are for coal, one is for dry cleaning, one for laundering services and the fifth for field service caps.

CAs HONOR THREE VICTORIANS

Three Victorians were honored today at Vancouver for outstanding service to Institute of Chartered Accountants of B.C.

Fellowships in the organization were presented at a Hotel Vancouver luncheon to Herbert H. Anscomb, John Harvey and [illegible] all of Victoria, and to five others: J. Norman Lunn, Frederick Field, George F. Gyles, J. Lorn McLean and J. Haydn Young, all of Vancouver.

Mr. Anscomb, former B.C. finance minister, has been a member of the institute since 1924, and was on its council from 1929 to 1932, inclusive. Mr. Field, institute member since 1925, was a councillor from 1936 to 1946, president of the B.C. Institute in 1943 and 1944, and president of the Canadian Institute 1946-47. Mr. Harvey joined the C.A. organization in Alberta in 1914 and became associated with the B.C. branch in 1928. He was a member of the council from 1934-39. He was treasurer of B.C. Power Commission until his retirement.

ANCIENT DEVICE STALLS DECISION

City council's executive committee may have quietened for a time, at least, the tangled question whether shops catering to the tourist trade should be permitted to open on Wednesday afternoons between June 15 and Sept. 15.

The executive used an age-old municipal device—a referendum; a testing of public opinion.

Aileen Campbell, Times city hall reporter, says there was no discussion about the wording of the referendum during Tuesday afternoon's executive committee meeting.

Municipal act requires referendums be taken only at the annual civic election—unless some one puts up enough cash to guarantee the municipality will not have to bear the cost of a vote taken at any other time.

If the executive's recommendation is adopted, question of tourist-store selling on Wednesday afternoons could be dead as a doornail for this year, at least.

Vancouver City Council used the same device recently but added a new gimmick: It ruled that before it formally authorized the taking of a vote it must receive assurances the provincial government would give effect to the referendum's decision.

Vancouver's aldermen thus pin-pointed a major municipal difficulty in the shop-hour question. Municipal councils do not initiate changes in shop hours nor have they power to vary. The legislative power is contained in provincial acts over which aldermen have no control, and the power to initiate changes is vested in the holders of retail licenses. If a specified number of licensees in any category petition for a change that is within the provincial law the aldermen must give effect to their desires.

None should blame the aldermen for adopting the referendum method. In fact, they could be praised. They are returning to the source of all legislative power—the people—for direction. But when they get it they can't act on that authority alone. They'll have to wait for an effective petition by the licensees involved or for changes in the provincial legislation that governs the weekly half-holiday in shops.

Control of the shop-hour situation lies with retailers. They can act effectively to bring about any change that majority of the affected licensees will support. So far, both here and elsewhere, businessmen have been unable to find common ground. The results of the recent Victoria Chamber of Commerce questionnaire on shop hours proved that. The fragmentation was such that any alert advocate could find evidence to support any argument, for or against.

And if the people directly affected cannot solve the problem what can the municipal councillors do? They can call for a referendum and they can argue with petitioners, as they did recently in the case of lumber yards which wanted the by-law changed to require these retail outlets to be closed Saturday afternoons.

So, around and around we go; where the wheel will stop nobody knows.

TWO for the SHOW

By PHIL LEE

AA (Oscar Class) A (Don't Miss) BB (Worthwhile) B (For Rainy Days) C (To put in time)

(A) "SHE'S BACK ON BROADWAY" (Royal) — Virginia Mayo finds herself, like many another Hollywood star, surrounded by a huge Beverley Hills home complete with swimming pools, servants and custom-built hot-rods, also bills she can't pay and dropped contracts. And, like the others, she decides that a whirl at Broadway again, the stage which catapulted her to Hollywood stardom, is just the thing necessary to bring her back into favor with the fans and studios.

Back on Broadway, however, she finds herself under the direction of Frank Lovejoy, the young director responsible for launching her career. Even after six years he is bitter over her leaving him for Hollywood.

All the while the new Broadway musical is being built up the feud between the two grows more bitter, almost to the downfall of the production.

This is one of the most solid stories of Broadway showbiz seen in town for many months. Most surprising is the acting of Virginia Mayo. This corner has never been very high on the capabilities of the blonde gal, but it takes it back with a low bow. Frank Lovejoy is capable as the moody young director. Sadness of the whole is the relatively small part played by excellent Hoosier Gene Nelson.

He deserves a much better part. Nelson is best remembered for his amazing dance routine in the school gym in "She's Working Her Way Through College." Remember?

"She's Back on Broadway" is a theatrical man's picture. But I would imagine it would be enjoyed by almost all.

The dance routines are extremely good and, for once, the tunes not too bad. But it will be joyful to hear again tunes such as heard in "State Fair," "42nd Street," the "Gold Diggers" and "Big Broacast" series.

Nonetheless this is a better-than-average Hollywood musical. And you have to admit there's no better way of forgetting the cares of the day than a show of this kind.

U.K. Labor MP Would Oust U.S. Forces

LONDON (AP).—A left-wing Labor member of parliament Monday demanded the closing of the United States embassy and consulates in Britain, and withdrawal of American armed forces. S. O. Davies, a former coal miner who represents a Welsh district, said he made the demand in view of the widespread revulsion of feeling against the United States government in this country." Davies' demand has been put down for next Thursday's order paper in the House of Commons.

Special Railway Fares Offered For Big Stampede

WINNIPEG — Canadian railways are offering low fares to the Calgary exhibition stampede, being held this year from July 6 to 11.

The low fares will be on sale from all stations in Saskatchewan, Alberta and British Columbia from July 4 to 11, providing passengers can arrive at Calgary by 5 p.m., July 11. Passengers may leave Calgary up to midnight of July 13, but if there is not train service on that date, they may take the first available train.

The low fare will be one-way fare and one-half for the round trip, and will be good in all classes of accommodation.

THIRSTS FOR FINE MUSIC

Victoria Contralto Inspired by London

Irene Byatt, Back From Studies, Sees Small Opportunity in Canada

By AUDREY ST. D. JOHNSON

"I was literally a blotter—a sponge! I was hungry and thirsty for music and during my first six months in London I went to something every night and sometimes in the afternoon as well!"

She was speaking of the winter of 1950, but Irene Byatt, Victoria contralto, who has spent two and a half years studying in England, is as white hot with enthusiasm over her first experiences in the great musical centre as she was at the time of their happening.

She returned home this week to spend four months in Victoria, having stopped off in Toronto for a well-received concert and renewal of acquaintance at the Royal Conservatory of Music where she studied before going to England.

IRENE BYATT

Irene will not be idle while she is home, however. Immediate plans call for a concert at Oak Bay Junior High School, July 3, sponsored by Kinsmen Club; a summer school concert appearance at Victoria High School on July 7; a CBU trans-Canada broadcast in August, and a possible guest appearance with the Victoria Symphony Orchestra at Butchart's Gardens.

In October she is to be presented in recital by Victoria Musical Art Society, which organization, through its scholarship fund, saw her through her first year in London. Later in that month she will go to Toronto where she will be contralto soloist in "Elijah" at Massey Hall, under the baton of Sir Ernest MacMillan. After which she will return to London.

Irene talks vividly, alight with an inward glow that was kindled in her first weeks in England and has burned steadily since; despite the fact that she has found for herself the truth that fame is more perspiration than inspiration in the process of becoming an artist.

Long Study Takes Stamina

"It has been wonderful in many ways," she says; "but it has been hard too, very hard. It takes stamina to surmount all the difficulties and discouragements."

After her first year she had to take a job to make living expenses. "And then it was not so easy to study. After an eight-hour day in an office one cannot turn on music like a tap. One needs to come to it fresh and whole."

In the last season Irene had 26 professional engagements, including two with Sir Malcolm Sargent. She is deeply moved whenever she recalls the experience of singing the alto solos in the Messiah at Albert Hall.

"I was the junior member of the quartette," she says. "I'd had no experience and the others were well-known artists like Isobel Bailly. But they acted toward me as though I were just the same as themselves and the secretary of the Royal Choral Society came to welcome me on my first appearance at Albert Hall."

England is a land of oratorio, Irene tells you. "If you don't sing "Messiah" you starve to death!" She has sung the oratorio several times in several different places. In fact she learnt 12 oratorios in her first year with her famous teacher, Roy Henderson.

One of her greatest thrills was when the internationally-famous English contralto, Kathleen Ferrier, came especially to Mr. Henderson's home to hear her sing and told her that she had a great future.

Fine Artists Are Great People

Really fine artists are great people, Irene has found; warm, genuine and sincere. And she herself has the real artist's deep interest in and sympathy—with humanity. She expresses her love for London, her sensitivity to its teeming life in strangely moving terms.

Of the late King George VI's death, she says: "You felt you must move on tiptoe in the streets; not to break the silence that had fallen over the great city. And when the king's body was carried on its last journey to Windsor, it was not the sound of many troops one heard, but one great slow footfall in the stillness."

Speaking of Canadian talent, she comments that all examiners and adjudicators are greatly impressed with individual performances they have heard in this country, but there are still far too few opportunities for development or making a living in the arts.

Music is not easily enough available to the Canadian student, Irene feels. One of the great boons of studying in London is that you can hear the most wonderful concerts for about 30 cents.

As to the future, Irene's particular interest is in German Lieder. She hopes to study for a time with Madame Lotte Lehmann in order to perfect that very special art. Her ambitions also include doing some Wagnerian roles, though she does not intend to concentrate on opera.

She hopes she won't be forced to seek her future in the United States. "I would like best to be an international artist," she says, "and to keep Canada as my home and contribute to the musical life of this country."

But the life of the singing voice is only about 30 years and Irene does not intend to waste that life. So far professional engagements in Canada for Canadian singers have been none too plentiful.

The Victoria singer feels strongly that after the hard and long fight to the top of the ladder, the professional musician has a right to expect a fair return and cannot be blamed for going where that return is to be had.

Alberta Author Wins $5,000 Novel Prize

TORONTO (CP) — William Ormond Mitchell, 39, of High River, Alta., was announced Tuesday as winner of Maclean's magazine's first $5,000 novel writing award.

The magazine said his second novel, "The Alien," will be published in serial form in the autumn. His first novel, "Who Has Seen the Wind?" was published about six years ago. Setting for "The Alien" is an Indian reservation in southern Alberta.

Mr. Mitchell, born in Weyburn, Sask., is a former fiction editor of Maclean's. Now a full-time writer, he has been a school principal, lifeguard, salesman and deckhand on a Greek tramp steamer.

17-YEAR TEST OF COURAGE

Handicaps Overcome By Man in Iron Lung

CHICAGO—For the past 17 years, Fred Snite Jr., of River Forest, Ill., has been in an iron lung, but that hasn't stopped him from living a life that would put many an active man to shame.

Son of the head of a loan bank system, Snite attracted world-wide attention when he was married, in his iron lung, to Miss Teresa Larkin of Dayton, O., in 1939, three years after he contracted polio while traveling in Peiping, China.

LEAVES LUNG

He has a family of three girls. He can still do most things a young man likes to do. He has shown slow but persistent improvement, and can leave his iron lung for four hours in 24. But doctors have told him that complete recovery is impossible.

Each year he winters in Miami, Florida, transported in a specially-built trailer fitted with portable batteries for his iron lung.

Through a periscope, attached to the iron lung and focussed on a mirror over his head, he waches football games, horse racing and has seen most of the scenic wonders of the world.

STAND-IN PLAYER

Fred plays cards and chess. While another person sits in for him at the table, he watches the games through his mirror, directing his substitute how to play the hand or move the chess men.

In order to thank thousands of well-wishers for their encouraging messages, he has edited a newspaper. The publication is mimeographed, goes to press whenever the editor has enough material. Fred dictates the stories, made up mostly of personal experiences, to a nurse.

Snite has been featured in radio broadcasts, several of which were nationwide appeals for funds to combat infantile paralysis. He has visited in the iron lung, visiting famous cathedrals, talking with peasants, and even lunching in a fashionable Parisian restaurant, a party highlighted by champagne sipped through a straw.

BOUT SET BACK

EDMONTON (CP). — Promoter Jack Berry announced Sunday night that the Rex Layne-Earl Walls heavyweight boxing bout has been set back four days to July 3.

Querulous constituent who accidentally picked up a copy of the Vancouver Sun this morning phoned to ask about a page one headline:

CHRISTIE'S LAWYER
CLAIMS HE'S MAD

Constituent complained that he read the whole story under the headline, and still doesn't know why the lawyer should be so cross.

Man named John Hepburn who lives up Terrace way is as good-natured and generous as a neighbor could be. But he can be pushed too far, as witness the personal advertisement he inserted in the Terrace News:

"WARNING to those chronic dreamers of easy ownership who borrowed my peevee, two hoes, garden and new land rakes, potato fork, snow shovel, scythes, sickle, saw, pick and two ladders: return at once, or . . ."

Les Stewart reports a brief conversation between two golfers who were observing a newcomer to the game as he hacked his way through the underbrush in a vain effort to propel his ball back unto the fairway.

"He doesn't know the game very well," said one, critically.

"No," said the other, with genuine admiration in his voice. "But he sure knows the words."

Commodore Kenneth Adams, whose job in Eastern Canada kept him separated from his wife for more than two months, returned to the Pacific Coast last week and unexpectedly phoned his wife from Vancouver.

"I'll be home soon, dear," he announced, and was gratified by the joyous tone in his wife's voice when she said: "Oh, will I be glad to see you!"

"Well, I am indeed glad YOU are so glad," he said.

"I certainly am," she affirmed. "The kitchen floor needs scrubbing badly."

Invitation to Disaster

Safe cycling is the theme as Constable Ian Duncan, in charge of traffic safety education program among school children, warns these two youngsters of the hazards of riding double. This week a girl was killed in Vancouver riding double. Two were badly hurt in Victoria. Riding double or carelessly are two of the practices to be avoided as thousands of youngsters come out of school for the summer vacation and take to the roads for fishing, swimming or picnic parties. "Stay on the right in single file, one to a bike," warns Cons. Duncan. Caution on the highways is simple common sense, he says "And don't forget," he adds, "there are laws which govern cyclists just as they govern car drivers. The roads belong to everybody; and there's room for everybody providing they observe the rules." (Times photo.)

Manslaughter Trial Pending, Soldier Freed

Critical Counsel Wins Nominal Bail

A Gordon Head soldier, facing a charge of manslaughter, whom the Canadian army was accused of neglecting because it let him go to jail while awaiting trial, was finally released from Oakalla prison today on nominal bail.

Bail was set at $100 by Judge J. B. Clearihue for Gnr. D. K. Vannetter of Toronto, charged in connection with a highway accident on Gordon Head Road, April 16. He was driver of an army jeep which overturned, resulting in the death of passenger, Gnr. A. M. Cowan of Milford, Ont.

In granting the bail, the judge at the same time set aside an earlier court order which had set bail for Vannetter at $3,000. Vannetter was unable to find this bail.

ARMY CUSTODY

Mr. Cross said the army could apply for reduction of bail to a nominal sum of $100, and have the soldier released to its custody until the trial this fall. The lawyer felt that the army was neglecting Vannetter by not standing by him until an Assize Court jury reached a decision.

Today with the consent of the Crown, represented by Alexander Pearson, the bail was reduced by the judge. Vannetter was released from jail and returned to Gordon Head Camp to await trial.

Police Plan Remedy For Parking Frauds

Meter-Feeding Motorist Target Of New Strategy

City traffic officials are moving against motorists who use parking meters for longer than the 60-minute maximum period allowed by law.

They claim many drivers park their cars in downtown meter zones for long periods—a half a day or more in some cases—leaving their offices or places of business at the end of each hour to "feed" the meters another five cents.

It is understood the plan, designed to halt the parking law violation, would mean progressive fines "to hit the motorist where it hurts most—the pocket book."

Ald. William Pinfold, chairman of city council's public works committee, today confirmed that action on the question is under study, but declined to give deteails.

He did say that "what is in mind should result in a lot more parking space for the shopping public."

City council will have the final say on what changes are made in the law in this regard.

MAYOR RAPS TWO-FOOTED ROAD HOGS

Both Mayor Claude Harrison, commission chairman, and William Hamilton, member, expressed this view at a meeting of the commission today.

It was felt that pedestrians, who are given the right-of-way by law in marked cross-walks, were not playing fair with car drivers.

"They are using the law to pour across the streets in continuous streams tieing up traffic sometimes for a block or more," said the mayor.

Man Who Drove Old Fire Team Dies Aged 92

David Albert Henry, 92, resident of Greater Victoria since 1891 and former fireman and municipal councillor, died Tuesday at his home, 834 Craigflower Road.

A blacksmith by trade, he drove a horse-drawn hook and ladder truck for Victoria Fire Department for three years, and was a special constable at Rossland before heading for the Yukon in 1898 to search for gold.

During his five years in the north he married Caroline Erickson in Dawson City, and from 1903 to 1919, when he retired, he operated a farm and blacksmith shop in Happy Valley. He also worked on construction of the federal quarantine station at William Head.

Mr. Henry was secretary of Esquimalt Conservative Association for several years, a former member of Esquimalt council, and a member of the IOOF for 69 years.

His wife died in 1946. Surviving are two daughters, Mrs. Douglas J. Muir, Vancouver, and Mrs. John A. Robertson, 834 Craigflower Road, and three grandchildren.

The funeral will be held Thursday at 1.30 p.m., at Sands, and interment will be at Royal Oak.

Prof. Hoffman Veteran Music Teacher, Dies

Professor John Bernard Hoffman, 83, well-known Victoria singing teacher, died here this morning. He had been a resident for the past 18 years.

Born in Berlin, Germany, Professor Hoffman came to America in 1908 and taught for some time in New York before moving to Louisville, Ky.

He sang as a basso in the royal operas of Berlin and Vienna. He studied at the Royal Academy of Music in Berlin and was a pupil of the famous European teacher, J. B. Lamperti.

He leaves his wife, Annie, at their home, 1024 Caledonia Avenue. A nephew, Thomas Crabbe, lives at 320 Stannard Avenue. Other relatives are in Louisville. Funeral arrangements are being made by McCall Bros.

Wednesday Closing Referendum Seems Possibility Here

Question of whether they wish to permit retail stores catering to the tourist business to remain open Wednesday afternoons from June 15 to Sept. 15 may be put to Victorians in December.

City council's executive Tuesday afternoon agreed to recommend the referendum to city council's next meeting Thursday.

Wording of the referendum question was not discussed.

Referendum would have no legislative power; it merely would let the council know the preferences of the citizenry about a contentious question that has come before the aldermen off and on for the last two years.

Summer Straws Style Setters

Letter carriers have put their stamp of approval on new summer skimmers issued for warm-weather wear recently by the Dominion Post Office. Harold Pickering, postie for Route 66, Cook and Bay Street area, says the featherweight hats are ". . . right up to the letter." Mild protests were registered by one or two laughing letter-men who said, "This is the last straw!"

Argument on Fire By-Law Planned

A special Chamber of Commerce sub-committee today requested permission to address City Council meeting Thursday on the controversial new fire protection by-law.

Committee members charge that the fees levied "constitute double taxation of property owners." They want the by-law repealed.

California Man Named Head of Civil Servants

Walter L. Henry, city personnel director of Burbank, Calif., today was elected chairman of the western region, Civil Service Assembly of the United States and Canada, during its regional conference at the Empress Hotel.

First vice-president is Lynwood Steedman, Sacramento, of the California state employment department.

Others elected were Kathleen Dolen, San Francisco civil service commission, second vice-chairman, and Wayne L. Higbee, Santa Monica personnel director, secretary-treasurer.

Delegates were entertained at lunch in the Empress Hotel today, last day of their three-day conference, by the B.C. government. Host was Dr. Hugh Morrison, chairman of the B.C. Civil Service Commission, in the absence of Provincial Secretary Wesley D. Black.

Chief speaker was Harold S. Shefelman, chairman and attorney of the commission on Washington State government organizations, whose subject was "The Challenge of Public Service."

The 116 registered delegates spent the afternoon in a business session, and will conclude their conference with a social hour at the Empress, starting at 6 p.m., and dinner and dancing at Chez Marcel this evening.

STOKING DAYS NOW OVER

Kindly Caretaker Plans Her Holidays in Wilds

By AILEEN CAMPBELL

The "great outdoors" is calling Miss Ethel Kennedy, who will retire Tuesday from the post of caretaker at Victoria West School, which she has held for a quarter of a century.

Following a family tradition, Miss Kennedy took on the job her mother had filled for nearly 30 years. The late Mrs. Elizabeth Kennedy was affectionately known as "Ma" to hundreds of Victoria West children.

Miss Kennedy was asked to take over full-time caretaker duties—which included stoking three wood and coal furnaces, in the early days of the war, when it was difficult to get men.

She used to light the furnaces at 5 in the morning and still cares for the main building with its 11 clasrooms.

While she has enjoyed every minute of her work and associations at the school, Miss Kennedy has her eyes on the hills, woods and streams of Vancouver Island on her retirement.

"I'm not a city person," she said in an interview today. "You get something in the outdoors you don't get anywhere else."

And this friendly woman with the gentle philosophy of living knows whereof she speaks. She has panned for gold on the Leech River, ridden horseback to the top of Forbidden Plateau and spent days and nights on camping and hiking trips in many parts of Vancouver Island, and the interior of B.C.

She went with her mother, or brothers, and often alone.

"I'm never lonely on a country trail," she said.

CAPSULE PHILOSOPHY

Her philosophy of life can be put in the capsule:

"I love doing things for others. To some the work I have done here would just be a job and they might not get much out of it. To me, it has been grand work—the association with the childlren, the principals and teachers and the whole school atmosphere . . ."

Indicative of the way her associates feel about Miss Kennedy are the teas, luncheons and get-to-gethers that have been held for her these past few weeks.

She has been at the school under five principals—H. S. Hurn, Jack McKenzie, Rudyard Kipling, H. R. Dawson and now Harry Downard. She has nothing put praise for the work teachers are doing despite crowded accommodation.

"I know what a big job they have . . . I see it every day. They have long hours, overcrowded classrooms but they do everything for the benefit of childlren, their welfare and education."

IWA Officials Act For City Workers In Conciliation

Two officials of the International Woodworkers of America (CCL) represented employees at a conciliation board hearing here today of a contract dispute between Scott & Peden Ltd. and Canadian Brotherhood of Railway Employees and OTW (CCL), representing employees.

They are Stuart Hodgson, Vancouver, first vice-president of the IWA district council, and Walter Allen, Port Alberni, president of IWA Local 1-85.

Union requests were for a 20-cent hourly increase, union shop, and the privilege of all employees except those in the retail section to have Saturday afternoon free instead of Wednesday afternoon.

Scouts Want Mayor For Party Send-Off

Boy Scouts' Association of Victoria district asked today for a mayoral send-off for 26 boys and four leaders who leave here July 14 for a Canadian Scout Jamboree at Ottawa.

They will gather at the Legislative Buildings grounds at 2.15, July 14, prior to embarking on the CPR boat for Vancouver.

The Victoria group, led by Don Homer, Cliff Kirchen, Harold Harrison and Rover Scout Jean Diespacher, represent 12 city and district Scout groups. All are first-class Scouts and will be among a contingent of 300 B.C. boys travelling to Ottawa.

Freeman King, district commissioner, in a letter asked Mayor Claude Harrison to be on hand for the departure.

Young Pianists in Art Centre Recital

Five young students of the B.C. Registered Music Teachers' Association will take part in a piano recital at the Arts Centre Sunday at 3.15 p.m. There is no admittance charge.

Offering selections by Bach, Beethoven, Schubert and Prokoffiev will be: Kenneth Bertram, Patricia Chatwin, ElizabethHatfield, Linda Doyle and Joan Mollgard.

ASK The TIMES

Q.—From what literary work does the quotation come which was spoken at the beginning of the Coronation film, "A Queen Is Crowned"? It contained the phrase, "This happy breed of men," and ended with "this realm, this England."—T. M.

A.—Shakespeare's "King Richard II." They are among the lines spoken in act 2, scene 1, by old John of Gaunt, Duke of Lancaster, uncle to the king.

Q.—Will you please tell me the average rainfall for Alberni and the average at Victoria? —F. S.

A.—The rainfall at Port Alberni averaged for 34 years up to and including 1952 was 71.41 inches. It may be assumed that as Alberni is close to Port Alberni the fall was the same there. The rainfall at Victoria, averaged for 65 years up to and including 1952, was 26.92 inches.

Anyone wishing a question answered is invited to send the problem along to The Times, addressed to "Ask The Times" Editor. Questions and answers will be published daily. All questions should deal with matters of fact and be of general interest.

OAK BAY SOCREDS

ENDORSATION ALLEGED

Meanwhile, Mr. Alexander has related a conversation he had with Dr. C. D. Orchard, deputy minister of forests and Mr. Crowe's superior.

"Dr. Orchard made no bones at all about the fact he endorsed Mr. Crowe's recommendation that a specific grader be bought," Mr. Alexander said.

Mr. Alexander said "Dr. Orchard also told us that his department was not at fault but that 'if there was any fault, then I'd be the man to blame,'" he said.

"I asked Dr. Orchard if he thought an injustice had been done. He replied 'the gravest injustice'," Mr. Alexander said.

Dr. Orchard declined to comment on the matter today.

The B.C. Government Employees' Association stands ready to take up the cudgel for the two suspended officials.

As soon as Mr. Crowe submits his official complaint, expected some time today, the association machinery will roll. The good and welfare committee of the Victoria branch will study the grievance and make a recommendation to the parent body, which will then seek an interview with the cabinet.

The subsequent hearing will not be open to the public.

All Canada to Hear Victoria Symphony Friday

Radio listeners all over Canada will hear the Victoria Symphony Orchestra this week and listeners all over the province will hear the Victoria Meistersingers.

Both groups will be featured by the CBC and can be heard locally over Vancouver station CBU.

The orchestra program is one of a series of presentations by Canadian symphonies. It was recorded at the Empress Hotel in March.

The selections by the Meistersingers, conducted by Dudley Wickett, were also recorded, but they will be carried over a province-wide hook-up only, due to the late hour of the broadcast. They will be heard here at 10.30 p.m. Thursday. The Victoria Symphony Orchestra will be on the air locally from 9.30 to 10 p.m. Friday.

The Meistersingers will be the second last group to broadcast on the current CBC series, "Parade of Choirs." Victoria will figure in the final presentation the following week when the choir of the First United Church will be heard.

The program to be broadcast by the Victoria Symphony will be under direction of Hans Gruber. It will include excerpts from Handel's Royal Water Music Suite" and Brahm's "Academic Overture."

The well-known conductor returned to Victoria Tuesday after a vacation trip to Florida, New York and Toronto.

He will start rehearsals soon for a summer series of concerts to be given in the Butchart Gardens. There will be four Sunday engagements, July 5, 12, 19 and 26, starting at 2.30 p.m.

The music will be amplified to be heard clearly within a mile of the symphony which will locate near the Italian Gardens, in plain view of 3,000 listeners.

There will be no charge for the concerts by the 70-piece orchestra. Admission rates to the gardens will remain unchanged.

MARK BIRTHDAY OF ORDER

Famous Since Crusades, St. John Army to Parade

Today is the birthday of St. John the Baptist, patron saint of the St. John Ambulance Association, and the 854th anniversary of the founding of the order.

Known in Canada since 1883, the group gives safety instruction to 70,000 Canadians annually.

Industrial first aid classes were attended by 84, and 439 took basic first aid. Uniformed volunteers attended 401 "duties" in the same period and treated 86 persons, 22 of them ambulance cases.

Proof that the St. John Ambulance is never really "off duty" is seen in the report that 67 victims of accident or sudden ailment were cared for by St. John workers who were not on duty.

The local group has been complimented by civil defense authorities for the share they have taken in CD organization of casualty clearing units.

Founded in the year 1099 by knights of the Crusades, the order became famous for chivalry in the middle ages, for military and a life-saving work It fought the Saracens and ministered to the sick and wounded. Today it is known throughout the British Commonwealth for its labors.

Although no ceremonies have been planned to mark the birthday occasion today, a church parade to the 11 a.m. service at Christ Church Cathedral Sunday will be attended by 200 members of the association.

Chic, Seaweed-Topped Caps Make for Classy Bathing!

By PENNY SAVER

Are you hep to the latest styles in bathing "millinery"? I wouldn't want you to be mistaken for a bit of seaweed . . . but it's quite likely that you will be, if you're wearing a bathing cap decorated with soft rubber leaves! Leaves look just like natural water foliage . . . especially when you're underwater. Caps are white with red or blue seaweed.

If you are not the weedy type, you might prefer a cluster of colorful flowers atop your bathing bonnet . . . most stylish! Another cap has brown, yellow and blue leaves printed on a white ground with a soft blue flower centring each group of leaves. Younger bathing beauties would look cute in a cap with colorful circus scenes printed on it. . . . Price of all caps mentioned is $1.19.

Tourists! Do you want to take back an honest-to-goodness souvenir of the Island? What could be better than something made of clay from the banks of Mount Douglas. Local craftsmen have made this clay into intriguing pieces of pottery, and they are hand-painted in colorful designs.

Wall vases, painted in a dogwood design are obtainable in two sizes. The larger sells for $1, the smaller for 75 cents. Circular bowls for small flowers, also in the dogwood design are $1, and ash trays . . . same design . . . are 50 cents.

Typically Victorian are "Follow the Birds to Victoria" ash trays, which sell at 75 cents, 50 cents and 45 cents, depending upon size and style. Design is painted in bright blue and white.

Indian designs have proved too be popular, too. An ash tray, shaped like an Indian canoe and painted in a bright design are 50 cents. Ash trays shaped like fish are 50 cents, too.

New regulations now require "substandard" hosiery to be stamped as such. This practice covers not only all Canadian hosiery mills but extends to U.S. mills exporting to Canada. Under the new regulations "substandard" hosiery no longer can "mix with quality," unknown to the purchaser. A substandard stocking is generally accepted as one with some flaw, such as a thick thread, but whose wearability or appearance is in no way impaired.

Bal Masque Colors For Autumn, 1953

Gay, sparkling colors with new smartness and prettiness and even newer elegance, highlight the latest color collection released by Bruck . . . 24 gay, vivacious shades that set the pace for fall, aptly called "Bal Masque—1953."

The beguiling glow of the varied shades of brown, this fall, are first in fashion's favor, from bistro, a soft pink tone . . . tamis and creme de cocoa, two important subtle tans, to bonbon, a deep rich chocolate. A capricious member of this family is fou rou, a tangy rust shade.

Reds, which will play an important role in this fall's fashions, include moulin rouge, a brilliant flame . . . Renoir red, an elegant cherry hue and midinette, a prevocative deeper red.

The lightheartedness of the entire theme is clearly defined in pierrette, a sparkling emerald; vendome, a Paris moss; and Cezanne, a Robin Hood tone. The subtle transition from green to blue is strikingly achieved in celeste and enchante, while the blues are truly intriguing with cançan a brilliant lively tone and beau bleu a coy and captivating shade.

New shades that are gaining immense popularity are pigalle, odette and sans souci, clever variations in purple. Then there's triomphe, a real pirate's gold to round out this outstanding collection.

When plotting the floor plan of your kitchen take the door-swing of the refrigerator into consideration. Refrigerators are made today with the door swinging either to the right or to the left. This makes them more easily fitted into various space angles in the kitchen.

Do Shifty Eyes Have To Mean Sneakiness?

By ELIZABETH B. HURLOCK, PhD

Some people think that when someone cannot look you in the eyes he is a sneak. This man wonders whether it's so:

Hurlock

(Q)—"I have always been shy and self-conscious. So long as I can remember, people have told me I do not look them straight in the eye when I talk to them. I have often been told that this is a sign of sneakiness but I have never thought of myself as a sneaky person. I want to create a good impression on other people and I am afraid I do not because of this weakness. How can I correct the trouble?"

(A)—There is certainly no scientific evidence for the notion that when a person does not look you straight in the eye he is a sneak. However as most people believe it to be true, there is the possibility that the people you meet will not have a favorable impression of you until they know you better.

Your shyness and self-consciousness are the real causes of your inability to look people straight in the eye when you talk to them. You must overcome these traits first.

This means, primarily, convincing yourself that you have nothing to fear in your relationship with others and nothing to be self-conscious about. Evaluate yourself fairly. The best way to do this is to contrast your abilities with those of the people you come in contact with. Your self-esteem will grow.

Take some time each day to practice talking to yourself in the mirror. Get the feel of looking yourself straight in the eye when talking. Once you get used to it, the habit will carry over to your contacts with other people and you will then be able to look at them just as you look at your face in the mirror while you are talking.

If you have a problem about family or friend, ask Dr. Hurlock to help you. Write in care of this newspaper.

Draperies may meet at the top or hang at the sides. If they are too close over the windows, you will need twice the width of the opening. Pleats take up almost half the width of each strip of fabric. There is also an overlap of several inches where they meet. Pleater tapes are the easiest way to make a pinch-pleat heading. The kind of material you use will determine the amount to take up in the folding of the pleats. Pleated draperies are usually hung by the hooks from a rod, whether they are lined or unlined and do not require a casing. For length, add ten inches—six inches for hems, top and bottom, and four inches for heading.

Pastel Tailleurs Worn by Bride and Attendants

Twin suits of azure blue were worn by bride and groom at a recent double ring ceremony uniting Beatrice Evelyne, daughter of Mrs. Jessie Imeson, 1263 Walnut Street, and Mr. Alfred Imeson, and Guy William Fenn, son of Mr. and Mrs. G. O. Fenn, Regina, Sask. Vows were exchanged before Padre W. R. Taylor in HMCS Naden chapel. Red carnations and fern decked the altar and traditional wedding music was played on the organ.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. Her headdress was of pale blue carnations to match her suit and she carried a white satin prayer book topped with white carnations. She wore an amethyst pendant, a gift of her parents.

Mrs. Ken Bowness, sister of the bride, was matron of honor, wearing a pale pink suit, white carnation corsage and headdress and white accessories. As bridesmaid, Miss Lorraine Erickson wore a biege suit with pink carnations and pink accessories. Mauve nylon fashioned the frock of little Betty Lou Greenwood, who as flower girl carried a small colonial bouquet of late spring flowers and wore the same flowers in her hair. Best man was Harry Coote and Ken Bowness was usher.

A reception was held at the home of the bride's mother, where Mrs. Imeson, in blue with white accessories and pink rosebud corsage assisted in receiving the guests. A three-tier wedding cake was cut and Lawrence Greenwood proposed the toast to the bride. Mr. and Mrs. Fenn spent their honeymoon in Port Angeles and are making their new home at 1029 Empress Avenue.

Among the guests were Mr. and Mrs. G. Telfor of Lake Cowichan.

HOUSEHOLD HINTS

An impression of spaciousness with a narrow window may be created by adding shutters at each side of the window.

If wool blankets are brushed with a [illegible] or a stiff-bristled nylon hair brush after washing, they are more easily restored to their original size.

If your kitchen vegetable garden is not yet planted, make a plan on paper before you put seeds in the ground. It is much easier to make changes on paper than to correct errors after the vegetables are in the ground.

A good dust cloth can be made if a square of half-yard cheesecloth is soaked in the following solution: Add one tablespoon of linseed oil, one of kerosene, and one of turpentine, to a quart of boiling water. When the mixture cools, plunge the cheescloth into it, wring it out and let it dry. This will increase its ability to pick up dust.

TODAY'S RECIPE

FAVORITE SUMMERTIME DESSERT

¾ cup gingersnap crumbs, 1 lemon, 2 eggs, ½ cup granulated sugar, dash salt, ½ cup whipping cream, 1 cup well-drained canned peach slices, 2 tablespoons chopped maraschino cherries.

Line bottom of freezing tray with half of gingersnap crumbs. Grate rind from lemon and squeeze juice. Separate eggs and beat yolks lightly. Combine with sugar, lemon rind, juice and salt. Cook and stir over hot water until thickened (a minute or two only). Cool. Beat egg whites and whip cream. Combine these two and fold in lemon mixture. Turn into freezing tray and top with remaining crumbs. Place in freezing compartment with control set at lowest temperature. Freeze until firm. Reset temperature control to normal. Makes 6 or 8 servings.

Oldest Weaving Guild In Canada Plans Exhibit

Visitors to the ninth exhibition of Victoria Hand Weavers' Guild at the Empress Hotel, July 2 to 4, will see a widely varied display with many techniques represented. Aside from entries from local weavers, there will be a number of pieces from well-known weavers across Canada, including most of the prize-winning and honorable-mention pieces from a recent London, Ont., exhibition.

The great revival of interest in the craft of hand weaving was recognized in Victoria 20 years ago and resulted in the formation of what is now the oldest weavers' guild in Canada. Craftsmanship of the local weavers is of the very highest order.

Two weaving institutes have been held by the Victoria Guild, under direction of Mrs. Mary Meigs Atwater, dean of American hand weavers. As a home occupation and hobby, weaving is full of interesting avenues of exploration for those who would shun duplication and repetition.

The many techniques used offer something for all temperaments whether quantity of production or intricacy of design is desired; thus weaving offers relaxation and recreation at all times. It is creative and therefore gives a deep sense of accomplishment.

The current exhibition will point up these factors providing as well interesting demonstrations of weaving and spinning by guild members. Articles will be for sale and orders can be placed for items in special designs or colors to suit individual preference.

Guild president is Mrs. D. McKechnie and all arrangements for the exhibition, which will be open on each of the three days from 10 a.m. to 10 p.m., are in the hands of Mrs. H. R. Clark, chairman of exhibition committee. Miss Marjorie Hill is chairman of the standards committee which must pass on any piece of weaving from any source, before it is put on display.

Graduate Nurse Married at St. Paul's, Esquimalt

Pink and white peonies and stocks adorned the altar of St. Paul's Naval and Garrison Church, Esquimalt, when Patricia June Stratton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Tom Stratton, Seaview Court, Saltair, exchanged wedding vows with Gordon Douglas Litster, 775 Newbury Street, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Robert Litster, Victoria. Rev. J. A. Roberts performed the ceremony. T. R. Myers played traditional organ music.

Entering the church on the arm of her father, the bride was charming in a white afternoon-length dress with cape effect over the shoulders. The back featured soft pleats to the waistline and the skirt, unpressed pleats, giving a flowing hemline. The "V" neck was hand-worked in a pearl and crystal motif. She wore a simple shoulder-length veil, held in place with a pearl coronet, and carried a colonial bouquet of pink roses and white sweet peas.

The only attendant was sister of the groom, Miss Grace Litster, a fellow-graduate of Royal Jubilee Hospital School of Nursing. She wore a rose linen dress with white appliqued trim, scooped neckline and cap sleeves. A matching bandeau was worn in her hair and she carried a bouquet of Joanna Hill roses and pale green feathered carnations.

RECEPTION AT INN

Mrs. Stratton wore a white nylon dress with blue accessories and corsage of yellow roses.

Stephen T. Stratton was best man and Norman Balfour and Roderick Walker were ushers.

The reception was held at the Olde England Inn, which was decorated with pink and white floral arrangements. A two-tiered wedding cake centred the bridal table. Dr. A. F. McGill proposed the toast.

Out-of-town guests were Mrs. J. D. Kean and sons, Calgary; Mrs. R. G. Hart and family, Mrs. John Skrimshire and Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Tomlinson, Vancouver.

Upon return to Victoria the couple will live at Birkwood Arms, 930 Southgate Street.

Foretells a Wedding in July

Mr. and Mrs. William E. G. Brady, 829 St. Patrick Street, announce the engagement of their daughter, Wilma Evelyn Grayburn, to Mr. Don Buckland, Bremerton, Wash., younger son of Mrs. Roscoe C. Buckland and the late Mr. Buckland. The wedding will take place on July 11, in Oak Bay United Church at 8 o'clock. Miss Brady's only attendant will be Mrs. T. L. Sturgess. (Photo of Miss Brady by Leonard Holmes.)

Home of Rev. Emma Smiley Scene of Quiet Wedding

A quiet wedding at the home of Rev. Emma M. Smiley, who performed the ceremony, united Rebecca Gertrude Schumacher, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Schumacher, Vancouver, and Thomas Robert Bowden, son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas R. Bowden, 919 Vancouver Street. Orange blossoms and snapdragons decorated the rooms and recorded traditional wedding music was played.

An orchid Swiss lace ballerina gown with fitted bodice and bouffant skirt was worn by the bride. The short jacket top had a rolled collar and three-quarter-length sleeves and she wore a floral Juliet cap to match her dress. She carried a colonial bouquet of pink bridal roses and wore a crystal necklace that had belonged to the groom's grandmother.

Maid of honor Miss Mary Jenkins wore a pale blue net ballerina gown with white accessories and carried a bouquet of pink carnations. Best man was Bob McLean. Mother of the groom wore a shell pink two-piece dress, black hat with pink rosebud trim and black accessories.

Business and Professional Women's Clubroom was decked with a profusion of flowers for the reception. A three-tier wedding cake centred the bride's table, which was covered with a cutwork cloth. Pink tulle, silver candelabra and vases of rosebuds completed the setting.

Wallace Brynjolfson proposed the toast to the bride, and Stanley Martin sang "The Lord's Prayer," "Because" and "September."

For motoring in the U.S., Mrs. Bowden chose a dusty rose two-piece suit, white straw hat and white accessories. She wore a gardenia corsage. The newlyweds will live at 1131 Burdett Avenue upon return to Victoria.

To Sea Cadets — It was reported at meeting of Navy League Chapter, IODE, by Mrs. F. W. Mawdsley, convener of a superfluity stall at the Sea Cadets' carnival that $20 was realized and donated to the Cadets. Plans were made for a presentation at Central Junior High to the most outstanding pupil in Canadian history.

WATER CURE FOR DENT

To remedy a dent in wood, the first agent to try is water. First remove any oil or wax. Keep a wet pad over the dent. It will take some time for the wood fibers to swell back into original position. A bad dent, in which the wood fibers are broken and not just mashed, will not respond to this treatment. It may then be necessary to fill with wood filler or stick shellac, if not to plane and refinish the entire surface.

WHY GROW OLD?

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

So many requests come in concerning what to pack in a lunch if one must take a noonday meal to work! Mothers wish to know what to give their children, what to fix for their husbands, and what to take for themselves when reducing.

Let us consider first the school child. A consultant for the school lunch program of the department of agriculture says, "Many mothers think a lunch is a snack and a snack is sweet." Thus she suggests that too many mothers load their child's lunch box with jelly sandwiches and cookies or cake and often a sweetened drink, forgetting three essentials for health: Protein, calcium and vitamin C.

Some sweet is all right but the essentials of health must be considered first, and too many sweets spoil the appetite for these. For your protein intake you can have sliced meat or chicken sandwiches or you can have tuna or salmon salad sandwiches.

A chunk of cheese further builds the protein intake or you can vary the sandwiches with those made of cheese. A hard-boiled egg is another form of attractive protein for the box lunch. If your child will not eat a hard-boiled egg, he will not eat these deviled eggs.

Pack an orange in your lunch.

Put an orange in the lunch to build up the vitamin C intake. Cheese is a good source of calcium, but milk is the best source. If the child cannot buy milk at school send a thermos of milk along with him. After the need for such foods as those mentioned above has been met, put in a cookie or so.

The man in the family who must take a lunch to work should follow the same principles for health. If he does strenuous physical work he will require a greater quantity. Potato salad would build up his energy output and this can also sometimes vary the child's lunch.

Not so for the reducing woman! This item is too potent with calories. For the woman who is reducing, a hard-boiled egg, skimmed milk, a cube of cheese, carrot and celery sticks, fresh fruit, and lean meat sandwiches are the answer. Remember that the way you concoct your sandwiches makes all the difference in the world in calorie count. Mayonnaise, and sweet pickles and the trimmings, zoom the count. Use a little mustard and very thin slices or pickle for flavor. If you use mayonnaise or butter measure it carefully and meagerly.

After all, nearly one-third of our food intake is eaten at lunch. It is not to be taken lightly.

To clean upholstery, whip soap flakes to the consistency of beaten egg whites. Have two pails of warm water, a soft brush and pieces of Turkish toweling ready. Plan to do only one section and put off the rest for another time, for the work is tiring. Apply the suds—no water—with the brush with rotary motion. Rinse twice, using the pails of water and the toweling. The upholstery must never be wet through, but only dampened on the surface. The same method can be used on a rug.

Summer's Fashion Jewelry Gay and Colorful in Design

LONDON (CP)—Color and gaiety are the keynotes of fashion jewelery for the summer with many designs bigger and bolder. Black and white are two themes which will be popular during the year in Britain.

Jet, a 19th-century revival, will be worn a great deal with the new smart, glazed cottons in dark colors. Teamed with sparkling crystals, it is used for sets of necklaces and earrings, with sometimes a bracelet to match. Black is used for a chic version of the feather-weight spray earrings with tiny, wired flowers extending fanwise over the ears.

White enamel will be combined with colored stones for unusual pieces that are light and flowerlike. This, too, is a backward glance to the reign of Queen Victoria when enamel and stones were used together for numerous pieces of jewelry.

Giant pearl clips completely hide the lobe of the ear and pendant earrings will be worn a great deal as a result of the trend for grander more formal jewelry. One set of brooch, necklace and earrings displays a true "chandelier" influence. The heavy drop earrings are shaped like Victorian lustre chandeliers and the same motif is repeated in the pendant brooch and necklace.

National Council Head Re-Elected

More than 50 delegates were in residence at the University of Manitoba for the meeting which continues until Friday.

On Saturday they will travel to the International Peace Gardens on the U.S. border south of Brandon, where a plaque will be unveiled to the memory of Lady Aberdeen, founder, organizer and first president of the council. Lady Aberdeen was the wife of a governor-general of Canada.

Mrs. David S. Whittall left by plane today for California where she will visit her son-in-law and daughter, Dr. and Mrs. John Goff in West Los Angeles.

THE DOCTOR SAYS

By EDWIN JORDAN, MD

Call Doctor in Polio Season If Symptoms Suggest Polio

The fear of polio often becomes so great that parents often mistakenly feel that any illness in a child is likely to be that dread disease. Although they are usually wrong, one should be alert to the danger and should not ignore any suspicious symptoms.

The first symptoms of polio may be like those of other infections. Consequently it is doubly necessary to make sure that polio is not the cause.

The beginning signs of polio are likely to last for a few hours or for three or four days. A low fever is common. The victim may complain of feeling dizzy, slight muscular twitchings are common and the child may seem unusually irritable. A slight stiffness of the neck is particularly significant.

TOO SUGGESTIVE

However, parents should be careful not to call too much attention to the possibility of stiffness of the neck because this might cause a suggestible child to complain of something which is not really there.

As time goes on, stiffness becomes worse in the neck and in the back. The skin is likely to be sore and tender. The muscle weakness or paralysis usually does not show up for several days.

Most of these first symptoms may be present in an ordinary cold or some other minor illness. At times when polio is common, however, they should be considered seriously and the attendance of a physician should be obtained and the progress carefully watched.

HARD TO TELL EARLY

Even the physician, however, may have difficulty in making a diagnosis at first. Until a few days have passed it may be hard to tell polio from less serious conditions. Also some persons show the early symptoms of polio without ever developing paralysis.

Probably some of these are caused by the same tiny virus which produces polio, but which just does not attack the nervous system and cause paralysis.

There are good reasons for believing that many people become infected with the polio virus and never know it. Probably this is the reason so many of us seem to have built up a resistance.

LAMB'S A LURE

Saturna Calls Fleet To Feast

Yachts and powerboats from up and down the Pacific northwest coast will set course for Saturna Island to arrive July 1 for a great lamb barbecue. At least 500 sea-borne guests will attend.

The barbecue, an annual event, started as a school picnic four years ago. Now it's the island's biggest tourist attraction.

Jim Cruikshank, a Saturna Island resident, brought the art of lamb barbecuing from South America. He will be in charge of the cooking pits on the beach where guests eat all they want for $1.

Old-fashioned carnival games and children's sports begin at 11 a.m. The barbecue commences at 2.30 with a dozen lambs on the spits.

Even if it rains, the show goes on schedule. The barbecue pits will be under canvas and dinner will be served under a giant maple close by Saturna Beach. The maple was formerly used as the islanders' church and the immense spread of its limbs can shelter 200. Rain cannot penetrate the foliage.

Truck Owners Sued As Crash Sequel

A Victoria cleaning firm claimed in County Court Tuesday a sum of $712 in special damages from Sardara Singh Bains and Jagat Singh Bains, fuel dealers, for damage done to a truck in a highway accident.

The plaintiff, Page the Cleaner, Ltd., claimed his truck collided with the Bains' truck parked on the Island Highway near Colwood Corner on November 10, 1952. The firm alleged the truck was improperly parked, and obstructed traffic.

Workmen Raising Sinking Causeway Boat Steps Level

"It is a general rehabilitation job which will make the Causeway structurally sound and provide a new level above highest tide," an official said today.

The repair job has nothing to do with a proposed new concrete yacht float, but will put the Causeway in better condition if and when the float is constructed, an official said.

Soloists Selected For Park Concert

Mrs. Pauline Barnett and Allen White will be soloists at the first concert of the popular B.C. Electric series in Beacon Hill Park, July 1, at 8 p.m.

Six additional concerts will be given on succeeding Wednesdays. Mrs. Barnett and Mr. White, performers with the Gilbert and Sullivan Society, will sing selections from "The Merry Widow."

James Miller will conduct the 40-piece band. He was honored recently when invited to direct the massed bands at the pageant presented by the Shriners at Memorial Arena.

Whiffen Spit Piling Repair Tender Called

SOOKE—Plans and specifications are being prepared prior to calling for tenders on repairs to protective piling to Whiffen Spit, Sooke, according to word received by D. J. DeRochie, president of the Sooke and Otter Point Liberal Association today.

Mr. DeRochie said it is expected that work will be carried out "in the very near future." He stated the work is important to Sooke residents as the spit protects Sooke harbor from the Straits of Juan de Fuca.

British Forces Reported Poised For 3-Way Strike at Mau-Maus

By ARTHUR GAVSHON

LONDON (AP)—British forces are reported poised to strike heavily against Mau Mau death-men who want to drive the whites out of Kenya colony.

More than 12,000 white and black troops and police are massing for an offensive under Gen. Sir George Erskine, boss of Britain's East African forces, officials said here Tuesday. Erskine was assigned recently to destroy the largely fanatical Negro society which has soaked the fertile territory in fear, blood and suspicion.

Mau Mau is a secret society of nationalists who have built up a well-knit resistance movement by exploiting the Africans' social grievances and jungle taboos. They persuade land-hungry Negro peasants to take blood oaths as a membership ritual. Their shock troops, who stalk with guns and long daggers by night, are recruited from the million-strong Kikuyu tribe.

An official spokesman for the Kenya government here said the government hopes to launch a program of reconstruction after stamping out the Mau Mau.

MORE INFORMATION

When a state of emergency was declared nine months ago, the spokesman said, the government found it almost impossible to win the co-operation of the Negro population against Mau Mau. Few would volunteer information. But today "information is flooding in." That, he claimed, proves the government's ascendancy.

The colonial office spokesmen refused to say whether the tide has turned against Mau Mau. The colonial office has found in the campaign against the Communists in Malaya that predictions of victory have sometimes turned out to be premature.

In the East African territory itself, desperate Negro bands maintained their relentless night raids. They killed nine people, released 17 prisoners, captured 15 hostages, stole cattle and burned more than 80 huts in a week-end rampage of destruction.

A Nairobi dispatch Tuesday said 16 terrorists were killed in the previous 24 hours.

TO USE PLANES

Erskine has charted a three-pronged drive to exterminate Mau Mau. He will use a British infantry brigade supported by a home guard of loyal Kikuyu, an armored force supported by mobile soldiers, and Royal Air Forec fighter bombers.

The Mau Mau men he will have to comb out strike from hideouts in the thickly-wooded ridges of the Aberdare Mountains and around snow-capped Mt. Kenya.

These hide-outs are as secure as the jungle fastness which have sheltered the Communist guerrillas of Malayas for years. On top of that, Mau Mau fighters display fearlessness, savagery, enterprise and cunning. Many of their leaders were trained painstakingly during the last war by Britain's army.

In this deepening African tragedy, the great mass of law-abiding Negroes find themselves unable or unwilling to take sides. And as a result many thousands have been caught in the pincers of Mau Mau terrorism and the white man's anger.

Since the emergency began, Mau Mau have killed more than 400 Negroes, 17 whites and four Indians, while the government forces have killed nearly 900 terrorists.

Hawaii Longshoremen End Protest Walkout

HONOLULU, T.H. (UP) — A four day mass protest strike by 24,000 members of the International Longshoremen's and Warehousemen's Union was ended Tuesday.

The workers, including longshoremen and members of the allied sugar and pineapple industries, began drifting back to their jobs late Monday.

They had been off work since Friday in protest against the conviction of regional ILWU director Jack W. Hall as a Communist conspirator. A federal court jury convicted Hall and six others of conspiracy after a more than seven-month trial.

The North Pole is in the Arctic Ocean, but the South Pole is within a lofty continent.

CCF Claims Nation-Wide Health Plan

WINNIPEG (CP)—The CCF party says the "only way" Canadians can show their desire for a national health insurance plan is by voting CCF on Aug. 10.

The party's health iunsurance proposals, one of 10 points in its election platform, were outlined by Stanley Knowles, CCF candidate for Winnipeg North Centre, in a 15-minute speech Tuesday night in the CBC's free-time political series on the Trans-Canada network.

"We are asking you in this election campaign to indicate your desire for immediate nation-wide health insurance," Mr. Knowles said.

"There is only one way you can do this, and that is by giving your support to the CCF, the only party which really believes in a national health program. . . ."

'TALK' BY LIBERALS

Canadians would not get such a program by voting for the Liberal government. The Liberals "regard health insurance as something to talk about, but that is all. They have been doing it for 34 years."

The country could afford it. "We can no longer afford not to have such a plan."

Mr. Knowles said it could be financed from the $500,000,000 a year already spent on health care by individuals, together with another $100,000,000 or $200,000,000.

Since 1949 Canada had increased its annual production of wealth by 50 per cent, or $8,000,000,000, "more than enough to pay for all our defense costs, all the ordinary costs of government, and all the health and security measures advocated by the CCF on your behalf, with a billion or two to spare."

It would be "unfair" to support through taxation health care merely for those unable to afford voluntary hospital or medical plans.

"Surely it is time to start financing the costs of hospital and medical care across the board on the only basis that is fair, on the basis of ability to pay. . . ."

Plan for Douks Goes Ahead Says Bonner

VANCOUVER (CP) — Attorney-General Robert Bonner said today the British Columbia government plans to go ahead with its six-point plan for Doukhobors despite recent arson outbreaks in the Kootenays.

The Social Credit minister said sale of government-held lands to Doukhobors will begin in July as previously announced.

Still to come is the government's promised legislation to recognize the Doukhobor form of marriage and extension to the sect of the right to vote.

Doukhobor children are to go to school and Canadian law will apply equally to all citizens of the Kootenays, the government announced earlier in its plan.

Apart from its plan to absorb Orthodox and Independent Doukhobors into the community the government has no intention of taking extraordinary measures against the radical Sons of Freedom terrorists as advocated by the Slovan Valley Citizens Committee, Bonner said.

He compared the recent arson outbreak to 15 or 20 incidents of safe cracking. "You don't call out the army for that," he said.

OFFICERS NAMED

Single Victorian For Exchange Post

Mrs. Margaret Nairne of Lampson Street School is the only Greater Victoria teacher among 55 Canadians who will take exchange teaching posts in the United Kingdom this September.

Mrs. Nairne will leave early in July for the United Kingdom, where she will teach at the Isle of Man.

One other Greater Vitcoria teacher, Mrs. Agnes Henning of Oak Bay Junior High, will take an exchange teaching post in Toronto. She teaches music and mathematics at Oak Bay Junior High.

Metropolitan Store Opening To Brighten Shopping Centre

Heart of Victoria's shopping centre will take on a new look Thursday when the rebuilt Metropolitan Stores stages its gala opening.

Civic officials, headed by Mayor Harrison who will cut the ribbon, will participate in the opening ceremony at 9 a.m. They include chief of police J. Blackstock, fire chief Frank Briers and building inspector J. W. Oosterink.

R. Wallar, president, Metropolitan Stores Ltd., London, will head officials of the company R. H. Boynton and J. G. Rolph of New York, Jack Fawcett, the new store's manager; J. Harvie, fountain superintendent, and George Holt, western Canada superintendent, who has arranged the opening.

MODERN LIGHTING

In its field, the store will be one of the most modern in western Canada. Fluorescent lighting will make the interior as bright as day, counter-end showcases and windows also being brilliantly illuminated. Running both lengths of the store on Douglas and Yates Streets from end to end will be bright neon signs.

Merchandise will cover a wide range, including small wares and textiles, with dress and millinery departments.

A major feature of the store is a fully modern lunch counter with booths and stools to seat 90. All food will be prepared on the premises, latest improvements in cooking facilities having been installed in the gleaming kitchens.

Food will be conveyed to the fountain by two speedy elevators, while at the lunch counter steam tables and the latest refrigeration devices will keep hot and cold foods, respectively, in top condition.

For the last three weeks the store has been a beehive of activity, receiving and installing tons of merchandise and equipment.

5,000-Barrel Tank For BA Oil Co.

A permit for installation and construction of a tank and other work to cost $20,000 was issued to British American Oil Co. Ltd. by city building inspector J. W. Oosterink Tuesday.

The site is the Industrial Reserve, where B.A. Oil have other storage tanks. Rock will be blasted, a concrete tank base installed and a 5,000-barrel-tank constructed.

The existing concrete firewall enclosing the tanks will be increased 12 inches. Williams, Bray and Williams are the contractors.

VICTORIA TENT & AWNING
We can't make all the awnings in town, so we only make the best
CHECK THESE FEATURES ON THE METROPOLITAN INSTALLATION:
The entire job erected on steel girders.
Steel roller for trouble-free, life-long service.
Ball-bearing gears for easy operation.
Canvas awning material of 10-oz. army duck supplied by Imperial Mills.
All sewing double and single needle lock-stitched (not chain stitch) for fewer seam failures.
All thread mildew-resistant for longer seam life.
VICTORIA TENT & AWNING offers the finest workmanship plus modern factory methods to insure you of the best quality awnings at the lowest possible prices.
We encourage you to use the experience of our staff to solve your problems on awning design or construction. This service is gladly rendered without obligation.

5 CARDS OF THANKS

I wish to express my deep appreciation and thanks to all our friends for floral tributes, letters and cards of sympathy received during my recent bereavement.—Florence A. Potts.

6 IN MEMORIAM

In loving memory of a dear son and brother, Russell Lloyd, drowned June 24, 1949; also a dear Dad and Grandfather, Samuel Pickup, who passed away July 7, 1952.

Deep in our hearts you are fondly remembered
Sweet happy memories cling round
your names;
True hearts that loved you with deepest affection,
Always will love you in death just the same.

CARROLL RIGHTER'S ASTROLOGICAL FORECAST

THURSDAY, JUNE 25, 1953

Aries (March 21 to April 19)—Friends and associates point out wonderful goals which you can reach by expanding your outlook in scientific, spiritual and educational concerns.

Taurus (April 20 to May 20) — Start saving now, so that you will have greater abundance later in life. Work conscientiously at your job and save all you can.

Gemini (May 21 to June 21) — Gabby co-worker has plenty to say on pleasure jaunt with you but criticism turns out to be constructive and can be used to your benefit. Correct flaws.

Cancer (June 22 to July 21)—Seeking more interesting ways to make family happier brings you pleasant rewards as well as money for your bank account.

Leo (July 22 to Aug. 21)—You radiate more magnetism than ever today, with everyone responding to your talent and charm. Show appreciation. Be happy.

Virgo (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22)—By making surroundings more pleasant you remove frustrations at home which have sorely tried your patience for quite some time.

Libra (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22)—All who know you are delighted by your charm, which is at its peak today. Have serious discussions with your associates on securing mutual objectives.

Scorpio (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21)—Look about you for up-to-the-minute systems of increasing efficiency without disturbing present arrangements. Study data which make material matters understandable.

Capricorn (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20)—Influential person secretly shows you way out of perplexing problems, but to get the fullest benefit from offered assistance you must put aside false pride.

Aquarius (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19)—You are now in a position to get away from humdrum toil. Use those electric qualities of yours to strike out on new paths.

Pisces (Feb. 20 to March 20)—Replenish and brighten your surroundings. Associate with superiors you understand their problems and suggest solutions.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN THURSDAY . . .

Thursday's child possesses many of the qualities that bring success in worldly affairs—forethought, honor, self-reliance, system. In addition, your offspring is very magnetic, with quick intuitive perception, and will attract those who will be of much benefit. Make sure, however, that your child does not become impervious to kindness and take all this for granted. Give college training to prepare for the intellectual pursuits that are indicated.

Canada in No Hurry to Ease Travel Restriction for Reds

OTTAWA (CP). — The external affairs department is awaiting full information from its Moscow embassy on the easing of Russian travel restrictions before any consideration is given to Canada's own bans on travel by Russian embassy personnel in this country.

The Russians have opened wide areas to unrestricted tavel by foreigners.

A spokesman said Tuesday the department so far has only press reports to go on.

Canada, for the last year, has allowed personnel from the Russian embassy to travel outside a 25-mile radius around Ottawa only after obtaining permission.

Surplus Perishables Offered to Charity

VANCOUVER (CP) — Strike-bound fruit and vegetables in Slade and Stewart warehouse were offered Tuesday to hospitals and charitable organizations by the company following a mammoth bargain sale Saturday that failed to clear out all of the perishable stocks.

Americans Near Base

SKARDU, Kashmir (AP)—A United States expedition planning to climb Mount Godwin Austin, better known as K2, world's second highest peak, in northern Kashmir, Tuesday was reported within 40 miles of its base camp site. K2 is 28,250 feet high.

Police Blame Vandals For Death Plunge

FORT WILLIAM, Ont. (BUP)—Police today blamed vandals who removed a guard rail from Mount McKay for the death of an English sailor who fell 300 feet in pitch blackness.

The body of Edward Cornish, 19, of London, was discovered at daybreak Tuesday, a few hours after he plunged to his death from a ledge during an "exploring expedition."

Liberals, Old, Tired Says Drew Give No Hint of Future Policy

OTTAWA (CP) — George Drew, Progressive Conservative leader, said Tuesday night the Liberal government is "old and tired in office" and it is time for a change.

He told an election meeting in his constituency of Carleton that Prime Minister St. Laurent, in his speech Monday night, gave no indication of Liberal policy for the future.

In a speech prepared for delivery in a bid for re-election in Carleton, Mr. Drew said the prime minister's speech "simply tells us that the government policy for the future is expressed in the words 'as you were.'

"This was not a policy. This was a yawn."

The Liberal government had been in power "much too long for efficient government. "Over the years Conservative and Liberal governments have held power for exactly the same number of years.

The Conservatives became "old and tired in office" in former years. Canada's best interests called for a change of government then.

"Now the present government is old and tired in office and it is equally in the interests of the people today that there be a change, an opportunity to examine the books and a business-like reorganization of government."

Mr. Drew also referred to the civil service plank in his party's 16-point election manifesto and said: "Under a Conservative government, the civil service will be protected from dismissal or interference with employment of any kind."

The manifesto promised permanent classification for all civil servants except casual employees, and pay and working conditions comparable to private industry and commerce.

"The present system under which many thousands of civil servants who have been employed for years are still described as 'temporary' is wholly unsatisfactory," he said.

The Progressive Conservative election pledge to cut taxes by $500,000,000 a year "can be brought about without in any way affecting the civil service or our defense forces, except to improve the terms of employment and in that way encourage efficiency."

Mr. Drew took issue with Mr. St. Laurent's statement Monday night that Canada's economic strength, her world stature and unity had all been achieved when the Liberal party was in office.

He reminded his audience that Sir John A. Macdonald "and those associated with him" in the 1867 Confederation were Conservatives.

The CPR was built and the CNR and CBC came into existence under Conservative governments.

"Nor was it under a Liberal government that our full national stature was recognized by other nations. Look at the Treaty of Versailles, terminating the First World War. There you will see Canada's name as a sovereign nation of full stature. It was a Conservative government which insisted upon that status.

"It is asking just a little too much," Mr. Drew added, "to expect Canadians with any knowledge of their own history to accept that statement that our unity, national strength and national stature have been the exclusive achievement of the Liberal party."

Empty PW Camps Stress Rhee's Truce Stand

A vast empty enclosure faces this UN soldier as he checks an escape gap in one of four PW camps run by South Koreans at Pusan, from which some 25,000 anti-Red prisoners were released on orders of South Korean President Syngman Rhee. The move was in protest against proposed truce terms which would leave Korea divided. Allied officials figure it will prove impossible to round up the escapees.

St. Laurent Challenges Drew's Tax Slash Plan

Tory Leader's Pledge Termed 'Impossible'

GUELPH, Ont. (BUP)—Prime Minister Louis St. Laurent told 4,000 persons in Memorial Gardens Tuesday night that George Drew's $500,000,000 was "childish and impossible."

He demanded that the Progressive Conservative leader tell the people how his party could carry out the promise if elected, but said he did not think Drew could.

"To be honest with you, I do not expect them to give you any such facts," he said.

"I have sat opposite Mr. Drew in the House of Commons for four years and my experience is that in debate and in public discussions he seems to believe that if something is asserted often enough and loudly enough it becomes a fact."

The prime minister said Drew had not indicated any substantial tax reductions in his 16-point program, and in fact could only increase costs and taxes by implementing some of the plans.

Mr. St. Laurent said, however, that tax reductions, even "substantial savings," were possible if fighting ended in Korea.

"And you may be sure," he added, "that if we have another tremendous increase in production and income like last year, an increase which looks like being reasonably sure of continuing, we will be in a position to make more tax cuts next year."

He said it was "absolutely impossible" for any party to carry out Drew's pledges, but suggested later a Conservative government might be able to effect the $500,000,000 tax cuts by helping to edge Canada into a depression.

To make the promised reductions, he said, Drew would have to make a corresponding reduction in expenditures and that would mean elimination of many essential services.

Attacks Statement Point by Point

The prime minister said that even if Drew wiped out the departments of agriculture, citizenship, external affairs, mines, public works, resources and commerce, he still could hope for a reduction of only $450,000,000. He could come close to the $500,000,000 by "tossing in" the National Research Council, the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation and the National Film Board.

He attacked the "Guelph declaration" point by point. Most of its projects, he said, were vague, and the others would be impossible to carry out or would increase expenditures.

"It is quite possible," he said, "that if Mr. Drew should be given his chance to form a government, the government would succeeded in reducing taxes in a way they never intended.

"If the country ceased to be prosperous, if employment declined, if national production and the national income went down, so would tax revenues—and it would not take long, under those conditions, to reduce taxes by $500,000,000.

"That is the kind of thing that happened when the Conservatives were in power the last time."

It was only last Friday that Drew was given a rousing ovation as he fired the Conservatives' opening election salvo here in his hometown. Tuesday night the Liberal leader was greeted just as enthusiastically.

Mr. St. Laurent was met at the station by several thousand cheering citizens and whisked away to city hall, where he was given the key to the city and signed the civic guest book.

Oak Bay Socred Resignations Ready Tonight

President, Secretary Ask Confidence Vote On Suspension Issue

By GORDON FORBES

Two officials will submit their resignations to tonight's special closed meeting of the Oak Bay Social Credit Association, which will discuss the suspension of two government officials.

They are George Alexander, president, and A. R. Taylor, secretary-treasurer.

Mr. Alexander said he will ask the meeting to vote confidence or non-confidence in him as president and his actions in protesting to the government the suspension of D. A. C. Smith, purchasing agent, and A. B. Crowe, mechanical superintendent, for allegedly accepting a revised bid on a grader.

BACKS ALEXANDER

Mr. Taylor stressed that he is "100 per cent behind George Alexander."

Mr. Alexander is prepared to stake his office on the action he took in asking for a full inquiry into the suspension. He contended Mr. Smith and Mr. Crowe were suspended without proper investigation.

He will give a full report to the membership, along with W. A. Scott and Lou Holker, association members who supported Mr. Alexander's protest in an interview with Premier Bennett.

The government officials were given one-month suspensions by Premier Bennett because they allegedly allowed a quotation to be changed by a Vancouver firm after bids had been opened on purchase of a grader. Their action saved the government $500. Both men have said the saving actually had nothing to do with choice of the grader. The Vancouver firm's grader was the type needed for the job.

OPINONS DIFFER

Some Oak Bay Socreds said there is a definite possibility Mr. Alexander's resignation will be accepted by the membership.

One member said the president's action has not met the approval of a majority of the members, and that "this isn't the first time Alexander has acted without authorization from the membership."

Thus, tonight's meeting may be a "knock 'em down, drag 'em out affair."

It is understood there is a move afoot to oust Mr. Alexander by calling for an annual meeting and election of officers, which is now overdue.

But any group intending to oppose Mr. Alexander's actions will have to contend with W. A. Scott and Lou Holker who have supported the president from the outset.

TO JURY TOMORROW

Christie Case Nears Climax

LONDON (UP)—Defense and prosecution completed evidence today in the trial of John R. Christie, the "Notting Hill Strangler" who admitted the sex murders of at least seven women, and the case will go to the jury Thursday.

Two doctors wound up the Crown's case by testifying they believed Christie was "abnormal" but sane and knew what he was doing when he put his wife "to sleep" by strangling her last December 14.

After summations by prosecution and defense attorneys on Thursday, the jury will be called on to decide whether to send Christie to the gallows or accept the defense plea that he was insane.

Although he was tried only for his wife's murder, he confessed gassing and strangling at least six other women in 14 years at his Notting Hill apartment.

Christie completed his own testimony by sobbing out bizarre new details about how he murdered the last three of his victims. Then the prosecution began exhaustive cross-examination in an effort to shake the defense contention that the bald little man was "hopelessly and utterly mad" when he strangled his victims in a fit of passion.

After the defense concluded its case on the third day of one of the most lurid trials in British history, the prosecution called doctors who testified Christie knew what he was doing when he murdered his wife.

GOOD SCHOLAR

"He says he was a good scholar and a mental test that was given him bears that out," said Dr. J. C. M. Matheson, medical officer at Brixton prison, who had Christie under observation since he was locked up there April 1.

The doctor said the 55-year-old former clerk has a "hysterical personality" but "I think he was sane."

Matheson conceded "he is absolutely unique in my experience."

Dr. Desmond Curran, a London psychiatrist, told the court "the obvious motive was a sexual one," when asked why he believed Christie gassed some of his victims before strangling them.

Dr. Kemp Committed

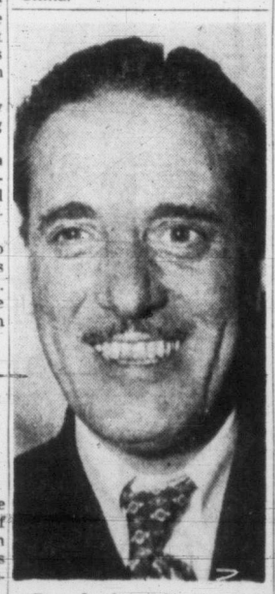
The charge was laid by John J. Perdue, president of the Social Credit League of British Columbia. Mr. Perdue charges defamatory statements had been made by Dr. Kemp during the provincial election campaign. Bail was fixed at $1,000.

Saboteurs Wreck Train

SAIGON, Indo-China (AP)—Railway officials announced today that about 100 or more persons were killed when a passenger train plunged 50 feet through a sabotaged viaduct Tuesday in east Indo-China.



Back in Harness

For 20 years CCF leader in British Columbia, Harold Winch shoved aside retirement Tuesday night to move into federal politics for the first time. The 46-year-old former provincial leader, accepted a unanimous nomination to carry the CCF banner in Vancouver East riding in the Aug. 10 federal election. Angus McInnes, who held the Vancouver East seat in the last House of Commons, will contest the new Vancouver-Kingsway seat for the CCF in the August voting.

$3.75 Billion Bond Issue for Russia

LONDON (UP)—Soviet Russia plans to float a new state loan of 15,000,000,000 rubles—nominally $3,750,000,000—"for development of the Soviet Union national economy," the Moscow radio said today.

The new bonds will be offered for popular subscription in October and will mature in October, 1973, Moscow radio said.

Interest on the bonds will be paid in premiums based on an average of 3 per cent during the 20-year term, it was announced.

Subscribers also will take part in a lottery in which bonds bearing certain numbers will give their holders prizes ranging up to 10,000 rubles ($2,500). There will be two drawings each year. Bonds and lottery winnings will be tax exempt.

New French Move

PARIS (UP) — Millionaire textile manufacturer Joseph Laniel agreed today to try to form a government to end the country's longest cabinet crisis and fill France's seat at the Big Three Bermuda conference next month.

QUEEN MOTHER SPEAKS OUT ON HIGH TAXES

LONDON (AP)—Even Britain's Royal Family feels taxes—and doesn't like them too much.

Queen Mother Elizabeth, making an appeal for the National Art Collection Fund, told a public meeting Tuesday:

"We live in days when crushing taxation has made certain that enlightened patronage, which in the past has enriched England by possessions uncollected by other countries, cannot prosper.

"Many of the famous houses that housed these lovely collections stand empty and crumbling and their contents are being steadily dispersed.

"It is in these circumstances, happily, that the fund committee stepped in and plays the role of discerning patron to them, all of us who value beauty owe a lasting debt."

Injury Fatal After 6 Days

A workman injured on the Rocky Point arsenal project last Wednesday, died in St. Joseph's Hospital Tuesday after being unconscious for six days.

Inquest in the death of David Mason, 23, of Gillespie Road, Metchosin, is scheduled for 10.30 a.m. Thursday at Hayward's Funeral Parlor.

It is believed the young workman suffered a fractured skull when struck by a large piece of plywood as a pile of building material toppled in heavy wind.

Three other men knocked down in the mishap escaped uninjured.

Born in England, Mr. Mason is survived by his parents, at East Sooke, and a sister, Mrs. Barbara Donahue, 1232 Yates.

Funeral is scheduled at 1.30 p.m., Saturday, from St. Mary's Church, Metchosin.

RCAF Hunt Missing Plane in Northern B.C.

EDMONTON (CP) — The RCAF launched a search today for three men missing aboard a private Stinson aircraft since 7.36 p.m. MST Tuesday night while flying over northeastern British Columbia near the Alaska highway.

The pilot was identified only as a Mr. Kelly from Vancouver, Wash. He was carrying two passengers on a flight from the American centre to Whitehorse, Y.T.

Wreckage of Missing Flying Boxcar Sighted

TOKYO (AP) — Japan's maritime safety board said today the weckage of a C-119 flying boxcar which vanished Tuesday has been spotted one mile off Tsukishima Island, near Hiroshima. The plane carried four crew members and three U.S. paratroopers. There was no mention of survivors. The big transport disappeared en route to Korea.

Million Demonstrators To Greet Truce Envoy

By ROBERT TUCKMAN

SEOUL (AP) — An emissary from Washington arrived in Tokyo today en route to critical talks with Syngman Rhee as the unyielding South Korean president vowed again to fight on alone.

His stand widened the split with his allies.

Tomorrow, third anniversary of the costly war, was expected to witness an anti-truce demonstration by 1,000,000 South Koreans.

As the bloody war ended its third year, these developments heightened the tension in Korea:

1. Walter S. Robertson, U.S. assistant secretary of state, carrying a secret note to Rhee from State Secretary Dulles, landed in Tokyo and was expected in the South Korean capital Thursday.

2. Rhee served official notice he would yank his 16-division army from United Nations control if an armistice is signed on present terms.

3. The leader of an anti-Rhee political party, Dr. Chough Pyong Ok, was severely beaten after speaking out against the Korean president's defiant truce stand.

4. Yoon Chi Yung, vice-speaker of the RoK National Assembly and an outspoken Rhee supporter, insisted that his country's armed forces "will not retreat even one step back" from the present battleline.

In an impassioned letter to Gen. Mark Clark, Rhee said that under terms of the present armistice agreement "I do not see . . . how the RoK forces can remain under your command, however regrettable to us."

The letter, released today by Rhee, was dated Saturday — two days before Clark conferred twice with the defiant South Korean president in an apparently futile effort to win his approval of a truce.

In Pusan, the government named Thursday "northward advance-unification day" and ordered about 200,000 Koreans to rally in the city plaza for demonstrations, parades and speeches.

Chough Pyong Ok, leader of the Opposition Democratic Nationalist party and former home minister, was attacked in the home of a friend by four men he called "hoodlums."

Other Koreans ransacked Chough's house after he called Rhee's prisoner release order "unwise" and said they might isolate South Korea from the free world.

Asked if he thought the attack was ordered by the government, Chough said, "we don't know. One thing bad is that we can't say what we believe."

Lull Ends; Red Drive Knives Into UN Lines

SEOUL, Korea (UP) — Two full Communist regiments assaulted Allied positions on the central front today as the third year of the Korean war ended.

From 5,000 to 6,000 Reds drove into American and South Korean defenses around bloody Sniper Ridge and Boomerang Hill just west of Kumhwa.

One attack failed under strong American resistance, but the second assault lasted past sunup.

The Red regiments hit at two points, and each thrust broke into two spearheads.

A spearhead of 1,500 Communists bolted into a position occupied by the 7th Infantry Regiment of the U.S. Third Division at the Boomerang, an important position on a boomerang-shaped hill.

Another spearhead of 1,500 Chinese struck another position on Boomerang. South Koreans of the Ninth RoK Division killed or wounded 727 Communists in hand-to-hand fighting.

Five or six miles to the east, at Sniper Ridge, another Red Regiment hit 9th RoK positions and the fight continued in daylight.

The main force of the Sniper Ridge attack involved 2,500 Chinese. About 500 Reds attacked outposts at Jane Russell Hill and Sandy Ridge.

The western and eastern fronts remained quiet as more than 24 hours of rain turned the battleground into a sea of mud.

Buck Challenged to Repudiate Red's Doctrine of Revolution

OTTAWA (BUP) — Justice Minister Stuart Garson today challenged Canadian Communists to announce publicly whether they had repudiated the Communist objective of world domination by force.

Garson issued the challenge in a letter written to Tim Buck, national leader of the Labor Progressive Party on June 15. The minister's letter was in reply to a letter which Buck sent to Nelson J. Castonguay, chief electoral officer, on May 27.

Buck's letter to Castonguay charged that the government was using the Royal Canadian Mounted Police as "part of its election machinery." It also charged that the RCMP book, "Law and Order in Canadian Democracy," contained defamatory statements branding Communist traitors to Canada.

Garson said Buck's statement that the RCMP and the book on laws and order were being used in the interests of the Liberal Party were "completely false." He also denied that the book contained "police forgeries" and said all statements questioning the loyalty of Communists were based on fact.

PUBLIC INTERESTED

"If the revised program means that Canadian Communists have now repudiated in its entirety the Marx-Lenin-Stalin teaching on the ultimate resort to violence to bring about a Communist, as distinct from a Socialist state, I am srue that the Canadian public would be interested to hear it," Garson wrote:

"You will recall, of course, the closing words of the 'manifesto' repeated with variations by Communist leaders the world over: 'The Communists disdain to conceal their views and aims. They openly declare that their ends can be attained only by the forcible overthrow of all existing social conditions.

"Is the public henceforth to understand that this cardinal teaching now has been absolutely repudiated by Canadian Communists?" Garson asked.

The minister also said he agreed with the book's description of Communists and Communism. The book said that 'the Communists are, on principle, traitors to everything sacred to Canadian democracy."

The RCMP, Garson said, "have a well-recognized duty to study subversive movements in Canada in order to arrive at an opinion as to the degree of danger, if any, presented by such movements to the internal security of the country. The lecture on 'Communism' gives such an opinion."

Garson said after weighing the evidence against Communism in Canada "I find no reason to amend the description of Communists and Communism given in the lecture."

Calcutta Accords Hero's Welcome To Everest Guide

CALCUTTA (Reuters) — The Sherpa guide, Tenzing, one of the two men who has been on top of the world, got a hero's welcome when he arrived today in Calcutta.

Ten thousand persons were on hand to cheer Tenzing, who together with New Zealander Sir Edmund Hillary successfully scaled Mt. Everest.

Next Monday the Everest team will be in New Delhi, the capital of India, where President Rajendra Prasad will present gold medals to Tenzing, Hillary and Col. Sir John Hunt, leader of the expedition.

Scots 'Crown' Elizabeth In 'Little Coronation'

EDINBURGH, Scotland (UP)—Queen Elizabeth II rode in state today to a national service at St. Giles' Cathedral, which proud Scots called a "little Coronation."

Pipers shrilled in the stately streetes of this old capital of Scotland. Chiefs of the clans, eagle feathers in their bonnets, came down from fortress-castles to greet Elizabeth, not only as Queen of Britain but as a direct descendant of Mary Queen of Scots.

Thousands jammed the route known in Scottish history as "The Royal Mile" from Elizabeth's Holyroodhouse palace to the High Kirk of Edinburgh.

At the cathedral took place an event unique in Scottish history—"the honors of Scotland."

For one dramatic moment the Queen held the gold and jeweled crown in her hands—probably the first British monarch ever to touch it.

There were two historically significant factors in today's ceremony which Scots could not overlook.

Queen Elizabeth II is the daughter of a Scottish mother and a descendant of King Robert the Bruce. Today is the 639th anniversary of the Battle of Bannockburn in which Robert the Bruce defeated the English and established the independence of Scotland.

The cold, gusty weather prevailing as the crowds gathered broke into brilliant sunshine before the return ride from St. Giles.

There was only one disappointment for the Scots. They hopefully expected Queen Elizabeth would wear her Coronation gown. Instead she was dressed in a coat-frock of greenish-blue shantung silk with a hat of the same material.

It was the same costume she wore at the national service of thanksgiving and dedication at St. Paul's Cathedral after her Coronation.

Court martial for the three will be held in July.

PM CHALLENGES DREW'S TAX PLAN

St. Laurent Charges Tory Leader's Pledge 'Childish and Impossible'

GUELPH, Ont. (BUP)—Prime Minister Louis St. Laurent told 4,000 persons in Memorial Gardens Tuesday night that George Drew's pledge to slash taxes by $500,000,000 was "childish and impossible."

He demanded that the Progressive Conservative leader tell the people how his party could carry out the promise if elected, but said he did not think Drew could.

"To be honest with you, I do not expect them to give you any such facts," he said.

"I have sat opposite Mr. Drew in the House of Commons for four years and my experience is that in debate and in public discussions he seems to believe that if something is asserted often enough and loudly enough it becomes a fact."

He could come close to the $500,000,000 by "tossing in" the National Research Council, the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation and the National Film Board.

He attacked the "Guelph declaration" point by point. Most of its projects, he said, were vague, and the others would be impossible to carry out or would increase expenditures.

"It is quite possible," he said, "that if Mr. Drew should be given his chance to form a government, the government would succeeded in reducing taxes in a way they never intended.

"If the country ceased to be prosperous, if employment declined, if national production and the national income went down, so would tax revenues—and it would not take long, under those conditions, to reduce taxes by $500,000,000.

"That is the kind of thing that happened when the Conservatives were in power the last time."

It was only last Friday that Drew was given a rousing ovation as he fired the Conservatives' opening election salvo here in his hometown. Tuesday night the Liberal leader was greeted just as enthusiastically.

Mr. St. Laurent was met at the station by several thousand cheering citizens and whisked away to city hall, where he was given the key to the city and signed the civic guest book.

Calcutta Accords Hero's Welcome To Everest Guide

CALCUTTA (Reuters) — The Sherpa guide, Tenzing, one of the two men who has been on top of the world, got a hero's welcome when he arrived today in Calcutta.

Ten thousand persons were on hand to cheer Tenzing, who together with New Zealander Sir Edmund Hillary successfully scaled Mt. Everest.

Next Monday the Everest team will be in New Delhi, the capital of India, where President Rajendra Prasad will present gold medals to Tenzing, Hillary and Col. Sir John Hunt, leader of the expedition.

CANADIAN STAR IN U.K. WOMEN'S GOLF FINAL

PORTHCAWL, Wales (CP)—Canada's Marlene Stewart, the youngest girl in the tournament, today won her way into the final of the British women's open golf championship at the Royal Porthcawl links.

Miss Stewart of Fonthill, Ont., scored a 6 and 4 victory over Elizabeth Price of England.

Oak Bay Socred Resignations Ready Tonight

President Alexander Asks Confidence Vote On Suspension Issue

By GORDON FORBES

Two officials will submit their resignations to tonight's special closed meeting of the Oak Bay Social Credit Association, which will discuss the suspension of two government officials.

They are George Alexander, president, and A. R. Taylor, secretary-treasurer.

Mr. Alexander said he will ask the meeting to vote confidence or non-confidence in him as president and his actions in protesting to the government the suspension of D. A. C. Smith, purchasing agent, and A. B. Crowe, mechanical superintendent, for allegedly accepting a revised bid on a grader.

Mr. Taylor said he has been considering resigning for some time due to his physical condition, but the government's action in suspending the two senior civil servants forced him to go ahead.

"That put the cap on it," he said.

BACKS ALEXANDER

Mr. Taylor stressed that he is "100 per cent behind George Alexander."

Mr. Alexander is prepared to stake his office on the action he took in asking for a full inquiry into the suspension. He contended Mr. Smith and Mr. Crowe were suspended without proper investigation.

He will give a full report to the membership, along with W. A. Scott and Lou Holker, association members who supported Mr. Alexander's protest in an interview with Premier Bennett.

The government officials were given one-month suspensions by Premier Bennett because they allegedly allowed a quotation to be changed by a Vancouver firm after bids had been opened on purchase of a grader. Their action saved the government $500. Both men have said the saving actually had nothing to do with choice of the grader.

Some Oak Bay Socreds said there is a definite possibility Mr. Alexander's resignation will be accepted by the membership.

One member said the president's action has not met the approval of a majority of the members, and that "this isn't the first time Alexander has acted without authorization from the membership."

It is understood there is a move afoot to oust Mr. Alexander by calling for an annual meeting and election of officers, which is now overdue.

But any group intending to oppose Mr. Alexander's actions will have to contend with W. A. Scott and Lou Holker who have supported the president from the outset.

Empty PW Camps Stress Rhee's Truce Stand

A vast empty enclosure faces this UN soldier as he checks an escape gap in one of four PW camps run by South Koreans at Pusan, from which some 25,000 anti-Red prisoners were released on orders of South Korean President Syngman Rhee. The move was in protest against proposed truce terms which would leave Korea divided. Allied officials figure it will prove impossible to round up the escapees.

By ROBERT TUCKMAN

SEOUL (AP) — An emissary from Washington arrived in Tokyo today en route to critical talks with Syngman Rhee as the unyielding South Korean president vowed again to fight on alone.

His stand widened the split with his allies.

Thursday, third anniversary of the costly war, was expected to witness an anti-truce demonstration by 1,000,000 South Koreans.

As the bloody war ended its third year, these developments heightened the tension in Korea:

1. Walter S. Robertson, U.S. assistant secretary of state, carrying a secret note to Rhee from State Secretary Dulles, landed in Tokyo and was expected in the South Korean capital Thursday.

2. Rhee served official notice he would yank his 16-division army from United Nations control if an armistice is signed on present terms.

3. The leader of an anti-Rhee political party, Dr. Chough Pyong Ok, was severely beaten after speaking out against the Korean president's defiant truce stand.

4. Yoon Chi Yung, vice-speaker of the RoK National Assembly and an outspoken Rhee supporter, insisted that his country's armed forces "will not retreat even one step back" from the present battleline.

In an impassioned letter to Gen. Mark Clark, Rhee said that under terms of the present armistice agreement, "I do not see . . . how the RoK forces can remain under your command, however regrettable to us."

The letter, released today by Rhee, was dated Saturday — two days before Clark conferred twice with the defiant South Korean president in an apparently futile effort to win his approval of a truce.

In Pusan, the government named Thursday "northward advance-unification day" and ordered about 200,000 Koreans to rally in the city plaza for demonstrations, parades and speeches.

Chough Pyong Ok, leader of the Opposition Democratic Nationalist party and former home minister, was attacked in the home of a friend by four men he called "hoodlums."

Other Koreans ransacked Chough's house after he called Rhee's prisoner release order "unwise" and said they might isolate South Korea from the free world.

Asked if he thought the attack was ordered by the government, Chough said, "we don't know. One thing bad is that we can't say what we believe."

Lull Ends; Red Drive Knives Into UN Lines

SEOUL, Korea (UP) — Two full Communist regiments assaulted Allied positions on the central front today as the third year of the Korean war ended.

From 5,000 to 6,000 Reds drove into American and South Korean defenses around bloody Sniper Ridge and Boomerang Hill just west of Kumhwa.

One attack failed under strong American resistance, but the second assault lasted past sunup.

In the air war, Fifth Air Force Sabrejets shot down four Migs during the morning and damaged another, while fighter bombers hit Communist frontline positions.

The Red regiments hit at two points, and each thrust broke into two spearheads.

A spearhead of 1,500 Communists bolted into a position occupied by the 7th Infantry Regiment of the U.S. Third Division at the Boomerang, an important position on a boomerang-shaped hill.

Another spearhead of 1,500 Chinese struck another position on Boomerang. South Koreans of the Ninth RoK Division killed or wounded 727 Communists in hand-to-hand fighting.

Five or six miles to the east, at Sniper Ridge, another Red Regiment hit 9th RoK positions and the fight continued in daylight.

The main force of the Sniper Ridge attack involved 2,500 Chinese. About 500 Reds attacked outposts at Jane Russell Hill and Sandy Ridge.

The western and eastern fronts remained quiet as more than 24 hours of rain turned the battleground into a sea of mud.

Hear tell a visitor from Georgia wanted t' know whut we do with th' crickets we grow at th' cricket grounds. Shucks, ma'am, we use 'em fer substitutes when too many flies git knocked out o' th' baseball park.

Sensational Trial Drawing to Close

LONDON (UP)—Defense and prosecution completed evidence today in the trial of John R. Christie, the "Notting Hill Strangler," who admitted the sex murders of at least seven women, and the case will go to the jury Thursday.

Two doctors wound up the Crown's case by testifying they believed Christie was "abnormal" but sane and knew what he was doing when he put his wife "to sleep" by strangling her last December 14.

After summations by prosecution and defense attorneys on Thursday, the jury will be called on to decide whether to send Christie to the gallows or accept the defense plea that he was insane.

Although he was tried only for his wife's murder, he confessed gassing and strangling at least six other women in 14 years at his Notting Hill apartment.

Christie completed his own testimony by sobbing out bizarre new details about how he murdered the last three of his victims. Then the prosecution began exhaustive cross-examination in an effort to shake the defense contention that the bald little man was "hopelessly and utterly mad" when he strangled his victims in a fit of passion.

After the defense concluded its case on the third day of one of the most lurid trials in British history, the prosecution called doctors who testified Christie knew what he was doing when he murdered his wife.

"He says he was a good scholar and a mental test that was given him bears that out," said Dr. J. C. M. Matheson, medical officer at Brixton prison, who had Christie under observation since he was locked up there April 1.

The doctor said the 55-year-old former clerk has a "hysterical personality" but "I think he was sane."

Dr. Desmond Curran, a London psychiatrist, told the court "the obvious motive was a sexual one," when asked why he believed Christie gassed some of his victims before strangling them.

Wreckage of Missing Flying Boxcar Sighted

TOKYO (AP) — Japan's maritime safety board said today the wreckage of a C-119 flying boxcar which vanished Tuesday has been spotted one mile off Tsukishima Island, near Hiroshima. The plane carried four crew members and three U.S. paratroopers. There was no mention of survivors. The big transport disappeared en route to Korea.

Saboteurs Wreck Train

SAIGON, Indo-China (AP) —Railway officials announced today that about 100 or more persons were killed when a passenger train plunged 50 feet through a sabotaged viaduct Tuesday in east Indo-China.

$3.75 Billion Bond Issue for Russia

LONDON (UP)—Soviet Russia plans to float a new state loan of 15,000,000,000 rubles—nominally $3,750,000,000—"for development of the Soviet Union national economy," the Moscow radio said today.

The new bonds will be offered for popular subscription in October and will mature in October, 1973, Moscow radio said.

Interest on the bonds will be paid in premiums based on an average of 3 per cent during the 20-year term, it was announced.

Subscribers also will take part in a lottery in which bonds bearing certain numbers will give their holders prizes ranging up to 10,000 rubles ($2,500). There will be two drawings each year. Bonds and lottery winnings will be tax exempt.
